Bomb Left By City Hall Dismantled

Omaha (AP) — A homemade bomb that had been placed against an outside wall of the Omaha City Hall was dismantled by police Thursday after it failed to explode.

Detective Sgt. Oscar Pfeffer said the device, an alarm clock wired to a battery with a dynamite cap and 18-inch tube of plastic explosive, was set to explode about 1:30 a.m.

It was found about 8 a.m. by Allen McGinnes, 51, an employe of the Ak-Sar-Ben Roofing Co. He was preparing to go to work on the City Hall roof when he found the bomb in a brown paper sack.

Not There

McGinnes said the device was not there when he left work late Wednesday afternoon.

McGinnes called police. City Hall was evacuated on orders from Public Safety Director L. K. Smith. About 300 persons work in the building. Mayor A. V. Sorensen was not in the building at the time.

The bomb was along the west wall of the City Council chamber at the edge of a grassy courtyard between City Hall and St. Mary Magdalene Church.

Clock Stopped

Sgt. Pfeffer said for some reason not yet determined the alarm clock, which was the timing device attached to the battery, stopped running. The battery was attached to the electrical blasting cap, which was attached to the explosive.

Pfeffer and Detective St. John F. Mitchell Jr. dismantled the timing device from the bomb. The two sergeants and Lt. Robert Mahoney took the tube of explosive to a dump site on the east side of Abbott Drive and removed the dynamite cap.

An explosion ordnance detachment from Fort Riley, Kan., was called by police to examine the device.

PATROL 'NABS' PLUM PICKERS

A telephone call to the Highway Patrol Communications Center Thursday informed officials that four people were picking "marijuana" in a field near Waverly.

Patrol officials rushed to the area designated by the caller to find a family in the field picking plums — not marijuana.

"There's a bit of difference between a weed and a tree," one official noted disgustedly.

HHH: RATIFY NOW

. . . Nuclear Treaty Delay 'Dangerous'

© New York Times Service

By MAX FRANKEL

Sea Girt, N.J. — In a forceful extension of his argument with Richard M. Nixon about how to deal with the Soviet Union, Vice President Hubert Humphrey called again Thursday for immediate Senate ratification of the nuclear nonproliferation treaty.

Delay in action on the treaty, as recommended by Nixon, would only mean further and dangerous delay of the effort to halt the arms race among both large and small nations, the vice president said.

Delay Harmful

It would also, he added, "deny our greatness and, in a very serious way, prove that we are unworthy of trust."

Nixon, the Republican candidate for president, has endorsed the treaty but favored postponement of its adoption until the posture and intentions of the Soviet Union toward the rest of Europe could be reassessed in the wake of the invasion of Czechoslovakia.

Humphrey replied by citing his disagreement as symbolic of basic differences between Nixon and himself on peacemaking.

Clear Choice Posed

The vice president said their differences posed a clear choice, to be made in the presidential election Nov. 5, of whether the United States shall continue the effort to reduce the risk of nuclear war of "fall back into all the old, bad habits, the old antagonisms, the doubts and the suspicions" that characterized the cold war.

Humphrey acknowledged that the Soviet invasion of Czechoslovakia had produced "greater tension among the super powers than there was a month or a year ago." But this made arms control measures all the more necessary, he asserted.

The vice president undertook a long discussion of the values of "bridge-building" with the Communist world while dedicating the second span of the Delaware Memorial Bridge.

'Our Proposal'

The treaty, which would commit the nuclear powers not to share their weapons secrets while committing other nations not to acquire nuclear weapons, was described by Humphrey as "our child, our dream, our proposal."

The treaty was in the national interest now, Humphrey argued, because it enhanced security rather than restricting it, and protected peace, rather than jeopardizing it.

Infusing some life into the Democratic Party organization across the nation has been the vice president's major task all week. He candidly recognized the difficulties in a pep talk to New Jersey Democrats here Thursday evening.

"I have no illusions about this campaign," Humphrey said in his prepared address. "The Democratic Party is being tested as never before. We shall either be one party, together in victory, or we shall be many parties, separated in defeat."

Nixon Attacks Administration

Indianapolis, Ind. (AP) — Richard M. Nixon struck hard at the Johnson administration Thursday, criticizing trade that builds up the power of Communist nations and warning "respect for the United States abroad has sunk to a disastrous depth."

"Never in human history has such a great nation been so reviled with such impunity," the Republican presidential candidate said.

Flying from Charlotte, N.C., to New Orleans, and then reaching into the Midwest, Nixon centered his attacks on the Democratic administration. His opponent, Hubert H. Humphrey, serves in it as vice president.

Addresses Legion

In New Orleans, Nixon told the annual convention of the American Legion that he is against the United States trading in strategic goods that "increase the war-making capacity" of Communist nations.

"There should be no aid or no credits of any kind with any country, including the Soviet Union, that aids the enemy in North Vietnam," he said.

Nixon said the United States has been "somewhat naive" in trade with the Soviet Union and Eastern Europe.

In Indiana, he said lack of respect for the United States "breeds a temptation to aggression."

Flag No Doormat

Nixon called for "new leadership" that will restore respect for the nation and declared "it is time we made clear that the flag of the United States is nobody's doormat."

In current diplomatic negotiations, Nixon said, "too often our side has been doing the giving and the other side has been doing the taking."

He said, "We must never lose our temper but we must never lose our power."

As Nixon campaigned, one of his top political aides told privately of his concern about the strong attacks upon Humphrey by Maryland Gov. Spiro T. Agnew, the GOP vice presidential candidate.

"We're going to do something about it", said the advisor, who asked that his name not be used.

In Washington Tuesday, Agnew said Humphrey was "soft on inflation, soft on communism and soft on law and order over the years."

Volunteer Probation Counselor Program Set

By JIM STEVENSON
Star Staff Writer

Lincoln Municipal Court officials Thursday announced plans to implement a Volunteer Probation Counselor program.

Lincoln citizens who volunteer will serve the court as probation counselors assigned to individual probationers.

The volunteers — the "good guys," as one court official described them — will meet with the probationers, talk over problems and report back to the court.

Confident

"We are confident that Lincoln citizens will welcome the opportunity for volunteer service in this particular problem area," Judge Richard O. Johnson said.

Court officials kicked off the first phase of the plan at a program Thursday evening attended by more than 30 representatives of state and local welfare, rehabilitation, community and church agencies.

Judge Thomas J. McManus told the group that "we're not here to ask you to volunteer your services tonight. We're here to acquaint you with our program."

Would Grow

The program, Judge Charles F. Noren added, would grow by "word of mouth."

As more volunteer counselors are needed, he said, the court would accept them.

First instituted in Royal Oak, Mich., the program has since been started in more than 70 other cities.

And Lincoln court officials returned full of hope after visiting a similar program in Denver recently.

Fantastic

"The results are fantastic," Chief Probation Officer Robert J. Keller said.

The primary focus of probation, Judge McManus explained, is to prevent the "small misdemeanor" person from moving on to felonies.

He noted that, in the Royal Oak program, 94% of those placed on probation did not repeat offenses in the city.

Time Factor

Judge Johnson said that there have been cases here where probation has not been advisable because of the "tremendous amount" of individual contact needed.

Keller's office, already swamped with nearly 400 probationers, couldn't take on the additional load.

"We've had to look at the overall picture, and a few have had to suffer," Keller admitted.

Not Stopped

But the volunteer program won't be just a stopgap measure to ease Keller's load, court officials promise.

Not only will there be more help available, but the volunteers can be effective in ways that probation officers can't.

His lack of legal office will actually work to the volunteer's benefit, according to James Allen, a graduate student in educational psychology hired part-time in Keller's office.

'Wear White Hat'

"They can wear the white hat," he said. "They can be the good guys."

Most importantly, Keller said, the program allows the court to "match up" volunteers and probationers according to ages, abilities, interests, etc.

"And the program will provide direct contact — five to seven hours a month — for the individual probationer who needs that kind of contact," Keller said.

And, of course, volunteer help is cheaper than a full-time probation officer.

Judge Noren noted that Royal Oak reports its volunteers contribute about $300,000 worth of services annually.

But the probation office there survives comfortably on a budget of less than one-tenth that amount, he said.

Investment Policy Is Saving Money For Lincoln Schools

By LUCILLE HOWARD
Star Staff Writer

In what Associate Supt. Dr. Robert Den Hartog termed an "aggressive investment policy," the Lincoln school district last year realized a total of $144,209 by using a large part of its income twice.

Every Tuesday, when the district's weekly share of county tax collections is reported, business affairs officials analyze the schools' cash needs and available funds to determine how much money can be invested.

"We make a conscientious effort to keep every spare dollar invested witout endangering the school district's cash flow," Den Hartog pointed out.

Every dollar the schools earn from investments is a dollar that does not have to be raised from taxes or other sources.

Interest Varies

The interest is estimated in the budget receipts, but actual interest earned has varied considerably from the estimates in recent years.

Interest on investments in the general fund were estimated to be $80,000 for the fiscal year ending Aug. 31, while the district actually realized $94,501 from that fund. Estimates for the previous year were $130,000 from the general fund, but the district ended up the 11-month fiscal year with only $105,000 earned interest.

Last year the current building fund investments earned $47,945 — $6,000 was estimated. However, a number of projects scheduled for last year were not started, but the money was held in the fund, explained the associate superintendent.

The Seacrest Stadium fund brought $1,763.

$90,000 Estimate

Den Hartog estimated that next year the district's general fund will receive about $90,000 from investments. The current building fund is expected to accrue $15,000, and the Seacrest Stadium fund, $3,000.

District investments are generally limited to certificates of deposits in Lincoln banks and U.S. Treasury bills.

Factors involved in determining the investments are the amount of yield that will be returned to the schools and the maturity date.

For example, money invested as of July 31, totaling $5,065,000 with a maturity value of $5,135,000, was earning interest at rates ranging from 5.05 to 5.78% and for terms lasting from 22 days to three months.

Treasury Bills

While all of the investments as of July 31 were in U.S. Treasury bills, all investments were in certificates of deposits at the same time the previous year.

Business affairs officials know daily how much money the school district needs because bills are paid twice a month and payroll is calculated at the end of the month.

"The hard part is knowing how much tax money the district will receive each week," according to Den Hartog.

The school district attempts to "invest a certain amount of its funds each week, but some months we get very little tax money," he explained.

Pueblo Said Spying On Soviet Ships

Washington (UPI) — The Johnson administration Thursday released the secret sailing orders of the USS Pueblo in an effort to refute North Korean claims that the intelligence ship intruded into its territorial waters. It was spying on Soviet ships when it was seized.

The State Department acever, acknowledged that the had on board a 1966 handbook of general instructions that included guidelines for naval intelligence operations undertaken within three miles of any alien shore. But the department said the Pueblo, before leaving on its mission in the Sea of Japan, had received specific telegraphic instructions to stay 13 miles away from the North Korean coast at all times.

The latter orders, hitherto secret, were ordered declassified by Deputy Defense Secretary Paul H. Nitze hours after a North Korean broadcast in which the earlier orders were quoted.

State Department spokesman Robert J. McCloskey said the United States "has no reason to believe" that the Pueblo had violated North Korea's territorial waters when it was seized Jan. 23.

Under the secret sailing orders the administration released Thursday, Pueblo Capt. Lloyd Bucher was instructed on Jan. 5, 1968, to remain "13 nautical miles CPA (closest point of approach)" to the North Korean land mass and off-shore islands.

The new orders were received three days before the ship put out to sea from Sasebo and five days before it arriver on its operating station off the North Korean coast.

The superseding orders also revealed that the Pueblo's primary mission was to conduct electronic surveillance of Soviet naval movements at the Nasima Straits and to return to Sasebo Naval Base.

The official North Korean central news agency Thursday quoted Bucher as saying at a news conference that the United States should accept the responsibility for the "spy" activities of the ship and crew.

The Communist account also said the Pueblo crew put up a fight. When escape from the Pueblo was cut off, Bucher was quoted as saying, "I answered by firing my main battery of machine guns at them."

"In the ensuing gun battle one of my men was killed and several others were wounded," Bucher was quoted.

Policeman Will Testify At Hearing On Fortas

Washington (AP) — Hearings on Justice Abe Fortas's nomination to be chief justice will be reopened Friday with testimony about striptease films involved in an obscenity conviction reversed by the Supreme Court.

The Senate Judiciary Committee announced Thursday that its first witness will be Sgt. Donald Shaidell of the Los Angeles Police Department's vice division.

A committee spokesman said Shaidell had been subpoenaed at the request of Sen. Strom Thurmond, R-S.C., an opponent of Fortas's confirmation by the Senate.

The Los Angeles police officer is being called to testify about the seizure of three films that were ruled hardcore pornography by a federal district judge and a California jury.

The case was reversed by the Supreme Court in a 5-4 decision in which Fortas sided with the majority.

The committee said it had received no word from Fortas as to whether he will accept its invitation to come back for more questioning in the fight over his nomination by President Johnson to succeed the retiring Chief Justice Earl Warren.

Dubcek Barred From Making Major Speech

(c) New York Times News Service

Prague — Alexander Dubcek, leader of Czechoslovakia's Communist Party, was barred from delivering a major nationwide radio and television speech saying the reform movement would continue, though at a slower pace, despite the presence of "foreign troops," sources said. (Anoher story on Page 2.)

Enemy Springs Trap

Saigon — In Vietnam, the enemy dodged allied troops throughout the morning, then struck in an ambush that touched off sharp, but sporadic fighting on the outskirts of Tay Ninh. (More on Page 2.)

No Arrest Claimed

Prague — Neither the Czechoslovak of Soviet secret police have made a single arrest of Czechoslovak liberals or intellectuals since the Aug. 20 invasion, a Czechoslovak police captain asserted. Thousands of citizens fearing arrest, including many famous intellectuals, have fled to Austria, producing a serious brain-drain in Czechoslovakia.

Vietnam Losing Wildlife

Saigon — Soldiers with rifles have driven many South Vietnamese animals — rhinocerous, deer, tigers and wild boar — across the border into China. "They are leaving the country as fast as the North Vietnamese enter," one ecologist said.

Bigger Budget Inevitable

Washington — Budget Director Charles g. Zwick told Congress that expenditure incrases of $7 billion to $9 billion that "you can't do anything about" were already in store for the next budget. The implication was that barring a tapering off of the Vietnam war, the 10% income tax surcharge would have to be extended past its July 1 expiration date.

Drug Profits High

Washington — A government task force found that the drug industry makes exceptional profits without exceptional risk or difficulty in obtaining growth capital and that the elderly bear the brunt of the high costs, probably suffering excess illness as a result. (Another story on Page 22.)

HHH Urges Ratification

Distinction Drawn

Washington — The White House drew a distinction between President Johnson's responsibility to speak out on national policy issues and statements by Vice President Humphrey under the pressure of the election campaign.

Hubert Trails So Far

By CARL LEUBSDORF

Sea Girt, N.J. (AP) — After just four days on the road, Hubert H. Humphrey's basic campaign strategy is coming into focus: concentrate on the big states, set what aides term "an unapologetic liberal line" and try to draw Richard M. Nixon into debate.

Humphrey's aides, examining his first cross-country swing, profess to be unconcerned about such things as lackluster crowds, the ever-present antiwar demonstrators, and an inability to round up some key Democratic leaders in many places.

They even admit he is behind now and may be for another month.

The important thing, they told a reporter, is that Humphrey has set his basic line and issued "a series of sharp challenges to Nixon," particularly on the nuclear nonproliferation treaty and the nomination of Abe Fortas as chief justice.

Humphrey is trying to line up the traditionally Democratic supporters in labor and minority groups, plus the suburban vote which he feels will be decisive in the election. He is counting on antagonism to Nixon to bring most antiwar dissents back into the fold.

He is hoping in this connection that Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy, the chief symbol of anti-war sentiment, will throw his support eventually to Humphrey. McCarthy has said he could not support Nixon, but will not take a definite stand for another two or three weeks.

Difference Important

"The important thing is the difference between Humphrey and Nixon," one top Humphrey aide said, adding that "we are going to fight it out on the basic issues."

On law and order, Humphrey is taking a somewhat milder line than Nixon or George C. Wallace.

Humphrey's camp is counting on the belief that polls that show an overwhelming majority in favor of a tough line on the law and order issue will not be borne out by the votes come November.

"If you read the polls," the aide said, "Nixon's got it. When you're behind, you have to take risks. If we lose, we'll go down with the right colors flying."

Keys

Humphrey's efforts to tag Nixon as "a wiggler and a wobbler" on the nuclear treaty and Fortas are keys to the campaign.

"We hope to be able to draw Nixon out," especially if there are debates between the candidates, the aide added.

His advisers feel Humphrey could best Nixon in a face-to-face confrontation, and Humphrey does too.

HE'LL GO

Spec. 4 Erwin Seawell didn't want to go to Vietnam. But then, serving in Germany, he heard his buddy had been killed in Vietnam. Now, says Seawell, "I'll go." He accompanied his buddy's body home to Charlotte, N.C.

GIs Chase Regiment Of Reds

Saigon (AP) — A U.S. task force bolstered by tanks pursued an enemy regiment near the Cambodian border early Friday after killing at least 113 in day-long fighting through jungles and scrubbed.

Fourteen Americans were killed and 60 wounded as the U.S. 1st Division and tanks of the 11th Cavalry engaged the regiment Thursday near Loc Ninh, 75 miles north of Saigon.

The U.S. Command also reported that an enemy assault on an artillery camp outside the provincial capital of Tay Ninh was beaten off early Friday.

Maneuvering

The command said the enemy was maneuvering around Tay Ninh, a vital defense pivot for allied forces strung along the border.

At full strength, an enemy regiment totals about 2,500 men. The outfit may have slipped back across the border in the darkness after Thursday's battle which raged for 14 hours.

U.S., South Vietnamese and enemy casualties dropped sharply last week, reflecting the temporary lull in the fighting.

195 GIs Killed

The U.S. Command said 195 Americans were killed and 1,400 wounded, about half the loss of the previous week. The South Vietnamese command gave government losses as 325 killed, 1,081 wounded and 60 missing. Enemy losses were placed at 1,664 killed.

The week's figures brought total American casualties reported for the war to 27,704 killed, 91,262 wounded and hospitalized and 81,926 wounded and treated in the field.

Nixon Is Political Musician

By RELMAN MORIN

New York (AP) —The audience is like a giant pipe organ and the skilled musician at the console, Richard M. Nixon, pulls out a stop.

"I believe that some of our courts, including the U.S. Supreme Court, have gone too far in weakening the peace forces as against the criminal forces in this country," he says.

The "instrument" responds with a thunder clap of applause.

Nixon's fingers deftly move to another section of the keyboard.

"When a fourth-rate military power like North Korea can hijack an American naval vessel on the high seas," he says, "it's time for new leadership in Washington."

The clapping, mingled with derisive laughter, is sweet music in his ears.

Nixon's presidential campaign, in a word, has been carefully orchestrated so far.

In months of campaigning in the primary elections, and now in his second week of stumping as the Republican candidate, Nixon has covered a wide spectrum of domestic and foreign issues.

He has not yet gone deeply into any of them.

Sprays Audiences

In his standard speech, he sprays his audiences with statements on crime, law and order, civil rights, government spending, welfare, the war on poverty, Vietnam, the Middle East, relations with the Soviet Union, American prestige and other problems.

Nixon has a number of factors working in his favor.

He succeeded in a prime objective —to win the nomination without splitting the GOP.

Nixon's staff has been honed to fine edge of efficiency. It strongly resembles the team of smooth-working professionals that backed up John F. Kennedy in the 1960 campaign.

Finally, and supremely important, Nixon's position today is the reverse of his role in 1960. Then, as vice president, he was obliged to defend a Republican administration. Today, he can attack. His opponent, Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, has to defend.

Thus, Nixon can quote Humphrey as saying, "Let us continue," to which he adds, "I say we just can't stand four more years of what we've had."

Frequently, this thrust brings groans from the audience, and cries of "no, no." In Houston last week, a man yelled, "Give 'em hell, Richard."

Conference On Aged

Washington (UPI) — The House passed and sent to the White House a bill calling for a 1971 conference on the problems of the aged.

Hajek, Czech Official, Said Resigning

Prague (UPI) —Foreign Minister Jiri Hajek was reported by informed sources Thursday to be resigning at the demand of the Soviet Union. The Russians made a concession of their own by withdrawing almost all troops from main Czechoslovak cities to the suburbs.

(The Yugoslav news agency Tanjug reported from Prague that Hajek already had resigned and that his removal would be announced to the parliament Friday. Later Tanjug said the resignation could not be confirmed.)

Hajek, who was on vacation in Yugoslavia when Soviet-led Warsaw Pact troops invaded Czechoslovakia, incurred Russian wrath by complaining about the invasion to the United Nations.

The Soviet press also denounced Hajek for trying to "tear" Czechoslovakia from the Warsaw Pact by flirting with West Germany and Israel. Czechoslovakia also was denounced for seeking to re-establish the prewar entente with Yugoslavia and Romania, Czechoslovakia's only sympathizers in the socialist bloc.

The troops did not go far. They set up within a few miles of the big cities, close enough for them to reoccupy urban nerve centers on short notice.

The troops departing from parks where they had been bivouacked left behind barren earth where lush lawns had been. A heavy odor rose from pit latrines used during the three weeks of Prague's occupation.

But the troops apparently were ordered to clean some of the bivouac areas after an outcry following their departure from occupied buildings. Some offices had to be disinfected and personal belongings were stolen from desks.

Big Blue Basin Potential Termed 'Sleeping Giant'

. . . But Adequate Water Essential, Report Stresses

By GLEN KREUSCHER
Farm Editor

"You might call the Big Blue River Basin a sleeping giant in economic potential, but it is a water short area and only with adequate water supplies can this tremendously rich agricultural area realize its real potential."

This is how an official of the Nebraska Soil and Water Conservation Commission summed up the first comprehensive report on one of Nebraska's 12 basin reports that will become a part of the State Water Plan.

Evidence is presented in the 103-page report to the Big Blue River Watershed Planning Board that shows the 2,920,000 acre basin with more than 108,000 residents as "having tremendous agricultural resources, but lagging behind in development of future water resources."

The study marks the first time that federal, state, county and local agencies and organizations grouped efforts for a complete development of the soil and water resource development potential study of a basin.

The Nebraska portion of the basin totals 4,560 square miles and extends west to Hastings, north to David City and east to near Burchard.

Deep Well Area

It comprises a large share of Nebraska's deep well irrigation, areas where water is being withdrawn three to four times faster than it is being re-charged by rainfall.

The basin also offers a great potential for expanded irrigation acreage if water was available, the report says. The study showed that to realize the full potential of the Big Blue River Basin productive capacity it will be necessary to supply from six to 12 inches of additional water for crops each year.

The general economy of the basin is closely tied to agriculture with 96% of the area devoted to agriculture and 83% of this area in crop production.

Floods have long been of concern to the area and the study shows that in the last 64 years there have been 35 damaging floods or about one flood every two years.

Multipurpose reservoirs on the mainstream of the Big Blue River are pictured as a solution in the study to the flood problem and as a source of extra water that is now limiting irrigation potential in the basin.

The study notes that four major reservoirs located in the eastern part of the basin with a combined storage capacity of 1,122,800 acre feet of water could aid in augmentation of a low base river flow that is a problem, provide irrigation water and aid in controlling floods.

These sites are the Surprise Dam west of Surprise, Seward View Dam two miles west of Seward, Beaver Crossing Dam one mile west of Beaver Crossing and Shestak Dam six miles southeast of Dorchester.

Warren Fairchild, executive secretary of the Nebraska Soil and Water Conservation Commission, estimated that the earliest any development could be expected in the Big Blue Basin on major reservoirs would be "between five and 10 years."

No immediate solution to the water short areas of the western part of the basin are outlined other than seeking more efficiency in irrigation through the use of reuse systems, and better water management by guarding against over irrigation.

The study notes that communities in the Big Blue Basin have not actively pursued flood plain management. The study recommends that all towns located in or adjacent to flood plains and specifically, Beatrice, York, Wilber, Crete, Osceola and Seward, should immediately consider the advanatges of management of land use through zoning regulations.

Seward Flood Study

It is noted that a flood plain study for Seward has been recently completed by the U.S. Geological Survey and is available to local government bodies.

It is also recommended that the Soil and Water Conservation Commission should counsel with local leaders in Beatrice, De Witt, Crete and Wymore to discuss the possibility of structural and nonstructural measurers for channel improvement to provide local flood protection.

"The Soil and Water Conservation Commission and the Department of Economic Development should collaborate to hold public meetings with city, county, and village officials responsible for development of Beatrice, York, Wymore, Wilber, Barneston, Odell, Pickrell, DeWitt, Beaver Crossing, Sutton, Clatonia, Crete, Milford, Seward Ulysses, Diller and McCool Junction to discuss the need for comprehensive planning including land use regulations, under both the Housing and Urban Development Act and local sponsorship," was a recommendation included to state agencies in the report.

In a number of cases the University of Nebraska was suggested as the agency to seek more research in draining depressed areas, doing research on re-use irrigation systems and studying the best water use-crop yield relationship to determine the optimum use of irrigation water.

Outstanding needs in the Big Blue Basin were listed in six areas, land treatment, flood control, irrigation, ground water stabilization, recreation, and low flow augmentation.

Kansas Reportedly Removing Objections To Dam At Angus

By The Associated Press

The executive director of the State Soil and Water Conservation Commission, Warren Fairchild, reported Thursday he has been unofficially informed Kansas has removed its objections to the flood control reservoir project on the Little Blue River in southern Nebraska.

Approval of the project at the Angus reservoir by Congress has been held up by Kansas' concern over how the flow of the Little Blue might be affected, Fairchild said.

The project encompasses Thayer, Nuckolls and Jefferson Counties which lie along the Kansas border.

"It appears the stumbling block with Kansas has been overcome and we can now encourage the project to be processed by Congress," Fairchild said.

He said final approval must come from the governor's offices of the two states.

Fairchild said he was informed by U.S. Sen. Roman Hruska that the application was hung up in the Department of Interior because of Kansas' concern.

Plans to irrigate the area have been deferred because of the high cost of acre development, Fairchild said.

The commission Thursday approved the Maple Creek watershed application to seek federal funds to help finance the 250,000-acre project in Dodge, Stanton and Colfax Counties.

A field investigation was called for on the 86,080-acre watershed project on the tributaries in Richardson and Pawnee Counties in Nebraska.

The project also includes some counties in Kansas.

The commission also approved a request for a flood plain information study in Douglas County.

SE Pep Rally Drive Marred By Accidents

A Southeast High School pep rally caravan resulted in several accidents Thursday evening, police said.

Police said the most serious accident occurred at 70th and A when a car driven by Sue Perry, 16, 6440 West Shore Drive, struck the car in front of it and pushed that car into still another car. The other drivers were identified by police as Peggy Rutledge, 16, 2941 So. 40th, and Joyce Powell, 17, 4200 So. 43rd.

Police said approximately twenty-seven youths were riding in the three cars at the time of the accident, but only three sustained injuries.

The injured, all passengers in the Perry car, were identified by police as Miss Perry, Leslie Kissell, 16, 2016 So. 45th, and Patty Hile, 14, 4300 Sumner.

All were treated and released by hospital authorities, police said.

Police said the cars were part of a caravan that was driving around Lincoln to "create interest" in Southeast's football game with North Platte Friday evening.

The cars, police said, were almost totally damaged during the accident.

Other accidents, police said, did not require a police investigation since the damage was minor.

Demonstration To Coincide With Wallace Party Meeting

By The Associated Press

Plans for a civil rights-type demonstration in Grand Island Saturday night, coinciding with the state convention of George Wallace's American party, were reported Thursday.

Backers said it will be a candlelight vigil in memory of those who have died in the struggle for justice and human rights.

The demonstration will be held outside the midtown Holiday Inn in Grand Island starting at 7:30 p.m., concurrently with the Wallace convention taking place inside the building.

The demonstration was conceived initially by a student group at the University of Nebraska but was said to be drawing support from various civil rights groups and others.

The Rev. Melvin E. Schroer, chairman of the Lincoln Committee of 1,000 — one of the supporting groups — said participants hope to demonstrate "that there are those in America who will not join a retreat into bigotry, racism and oppression."

A silent vigil will precede and follow a brief service led by the Rev. Velton Randall of Lincoln, member of the Committee of 1,000, sponsors said.

A car pool to transport demonstration participants from Lincoln to Grand Island was being organized.

IN PERSPECTIVE

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

GOP presidential candidate Richard Nixon's disavowal of the nuclear non-proliferation treaty now before the U.S. Senate raises an important consideration for the voters of the nation. Overall, the Nixon attitude toward communism is a hard one, made even harder by the Russian invasion of Czechoslovakia.

Also under attack by Nixon are the bridges to peace through trade proposed to be built by the Johnson administration to East European nations. Nixon would tend more to build a strong military defense against communism and to isolate as much as possible.

The same philosophy shows through in his tough stand on Vietnam. In his present position, Nixon could do nothing but continue the Vietnam situation as it is or escalate the war.

★

Vietnam, it seems, cannot be lumped in with the rest of the world in considering overall foreign policy. There, we are at war and what we do in such a situation as that may well be different from what we do on the international scene in general.

Thus, Nixon could be right about Vietnam but wrong elsewhere. The nation should certainly consider carefully any move toward isolation rather than involvement of the communist world.

The Russian invasion of Czechoslovakia has been interpreted in many ways but it seems agreed that it demonstrates a weakness in the communist system. It shows that system to be one that cannot survive without the use of force, one that cannot countenance even the slightest bit of freedom.

The American policy of involvement over the past eight years has contributed to the growth of freedom in Czechoslovakia. The Russian satellite nations have given the Soviet Union trouble partly because of the encouragement they have received from the Western world.

★

If force cannot sustain communism, one wonders if it can sustain democracy in the long-run. And here again, it is vital that we maintain our sense of balance and not carry every word spoken to some kind of extreme.

To argue for a political and economic policy of involving communist nations with the rest of world and thereby diluting their communist ideology does not mean that we abandon all military preparedness.

Obviously, no one is sure enough about the future actions of Russia to predict with certainty what is safe and unsafe for us to do. It is imperative that we maintain an armaments posture that is capable of deterring the Russians in any overt aggressive actions against us or other parts of the free world.

But to rely totally on military superiority to contain and finally to vanquish communism is really to place little faith in values of our democracy. To show the people of communist nations nothing but a military answer to Russian force is to give them rather small encouragement.

★

What the people of Czechoslovakia saw in recent years was the fact that the political and economic systems of the West had more to offer. The Czechs were never very moved, if at all, by our nuclear capability or the number of men we have under arms.

It is the freedom and opportunity of democracy that have broken down the walls of communism up to now. The military situation will never do that, even though it does buy time and is the means by which other avenues can be approached.

It is a combination of the right military, economic and political attitudes and policies that will pay off some day in the future. The danger in the Nixon policy is that it tends to rely too heavily upon the military and not enough on the economic and political.

We should do more than talk about Russia's demonstrating a desire for peace. We should build an environment in which such a demonstration is constantly encouraged.

'. . . Fortissimo . . . !'

Never Is A Long Time

Men will never fly, people once said, and there will never be a substitute for the horse, others said. Down through the years, through the generations, people have spoken of things that would never happen but did.

It should be enough to convince anyone that "never" is a decidedly strong word to use. But it was used this week, by a Nobel Prize winner who said that the "world will never be ready for a brain transplant."

It is easy to see how one might think this but it is not impossible to think that the brain might be transplanted some day. It is impossible at this time, of course, and we may never learn enough to make it possible. On the other hand, the knowledge explosion we are experiencing is enough to make you think that anything is possible.

Even more likely than a brain transplant is the willingness of society to accept it. Granted, it would be a different transplant in many respects than any on the scene today but if it were possible, it is not hard to imagine the world being ready for it.

The mind is really the essence of the individual, giving him his personality and all that he is beyond appearance. The heart is merely another human organ but the mind is humanity itself. It is, therefore, a most treasured thing as well as a most complicated thing.

If it were ever possible to retain the wisdom of great men through brain transplants, we think the world would be ready for it. To say it will never be, is to go out a long way on the limb.

The Right Thing To Do

There are hints from Washington that the U.S. may open its doors to Czech refugees, removing at least temporarily our restrictive immigration quotas.

The move would be one response — perhaps the only response — the U.S. could make to continued Soviet armored presence in Czechoslovakia. We let some 30,000 Hungarian refugees into the country after the 1956 uprising there.

While there have been no reports of mass movement out of Czechoslovakia by Czechs, the possibility exists that there might be, and should that happen, the doors of the U.S. should be open. At that time, however, a move to kill restrictions of immigration would be only a gesture, but it would be a highly significant one.

Our image is tarnished by riots, police brutality, assassinations, Vietnam. We're big, powerful, rich — but we need to continue as the nation which, in the minds of millions of little people around the world, offers the best possibility for personal and economic advancement. The U.S. has been a symbol of freedom to millions of persons. It should remain so.

Easing of immigration restrictions would be one way to help that symbol survive.

And in addition to the benefits this country would receive, we should lift the restrictions because it's the right thing to do.

MARQUIS CHILDS

Nixon And The Fortas Issue

WASHINGTON — Richard Nixon is under increasing pressure to divorce himself from the powerful forces on the right blocking the confirmation of Abe Fortas to be chief justice of the United States. Racist, virulently anti-communist and on the fringe anti-Semitic, the drive on Fortas has been picked up by extremist groups as a handy stick to assault the Supreme Court.

Sen. Edward W. Brooke of Massachusetts, the first Negro to sit in the Senate since Reconstruction who, is Richard Nixon's Exhibit A to establish his link with Negro voters, is urging Nixon to call off the Republicans. He is advising him to follow a face-saving strategy that would in all probability insure Fortas' confirmation.

Nixon's position is that the President should have let his successor, whether it is Nixon or Hubert Humphrey, name a chief justice to succeed Earl Warren. But he has also said that the Senate should pass on Fortas. That is presently not possible, however, with 17 to 20 Republicans linked with Southern Democrats determined to filibuster long enough to prevent a vote which would, as shown by an Associated Press poll, go for Fortas.

Brooke is telling Nixon that to ask the Republicans to let the confirmation come to a vote will not be backing down from his initial stand. What is more, if he makes this clear publicly, he will reassure the minorities who feel that Nixon is part of a conspiracy to block the first Jewish chief justice.

☆ ☆ ☆

But whether Nixon will go counter to opinion inflamed by the rightist groups is debatable. Most senators, including those favoring the Fortas nomination, say their mail is running heavily against confirmation. Many letters repeat the charges put out in a mailing of 280,000 by the most potent of these groups.

The Liberty Lobby calls Fortas a "convinced revolutionary in deadly earnest" who is "well qualified to guide this once-free and independent nation down the final pathway to the communist tyranny that awaits."

"Under Fortas' control," the massive mailing continued, "the Supreme Court will smash every effort by the people to restore law and order and crack down on crime, communism and corruption. Under Fortas' control, the pornographic industry will go on attacking the morals of American youth while the narcotics industry continues assaulting their minds and bodies. Under Fortas' control, it will be 'business as usual' for the communists and the underworld and the big contractors who are cleaning up on cost-plus at the taxpayers' expense."

W. B. Hicks Jr., Liberty Lobby's shrewd executive secretary says that if it appears likely the nomination will get to a floor vote, he intends to launch a nationwide newspaper ad campaign on the obscenity issue. A southern Congressman has called Fortas, "Mr. Obscenity" and the effort is to make it appear that Fortas, by a swing vote, has caused the court to throw out obscenity convictions.

In all this there are overtones of the McCarthyist (Joe) era and guilt by association. Those were the undertones of Nixon's early career as a member of the House Un-American Activities Committee and a cold war warrior. The memory of those beginning Nixon years troubles many of his current followers who, like Brooke, fear the Fortas attack is the start of a new wave of character assassination.

Officials of the American Bar Association and law deans in various parts of the country are worried that the authority of the courts and particularly the Supreme Court will be further weakened. Joseph O'Meara, dean emeritus of the Notre Dame Law School, points out in a letter to the Washington Post that the two obscenity cases on which the Fortas attack concentrates were decided on points of law and not on substance. Noting his votes in two other obscenity cases and one opinion O'Meara writes that Fortas' views "reflect a developing sensitivity to the complexities of the problem, a realistic appreciation of the significance of the way challenged films and books are marketed and a concern with the peddling of obscenity to the young." Four deans of law schools in prominent universities signed the O'Meara letter.

In Nixon's dilemma—if indeed for him it is a dilemma—he must face the stern opposition to Fortas of some of his devoted political engineers. Foremost on this list is Sen. Strom Thurmond of South Carolina who is credited with rounding up the southern delegate strength that made his first-ballot nomination at Miami Beach inevitable. When Fortas was testifying before the Senate Judiciary Committee, Thurmond directed a furious barrage at him.

An editorial in the Oklahoma City Oklahoman, headed "Nixon Owes a Debt to Thurmond," suggested that the South Carolina senator's name might enter into speculation for chief justice under Nixon as president. That would insure Earl Warren staying on as chief, the editorial added.

There are many ways under the Senate's complicated procedure to block the Fortas nomination. But if the holdup succeeds, the consequences will be felt for a long time to come both on the Court and in the politics of 1968 and after.

Through Religion

Pleasant Dale, Neb.

In your editorial dealing with education in the September 4 Star, you raise some very pertinent and disturbing facts about the educational system of this country.

You express the idea in your editorial that the place in which one is to obtain the right perspective on life is through our system of education. This I think is certainly commendable but I think it is a far-fetched dream. I for one do not feel that our system of education was ever meant to be this nor could it ever be. The only place we as a nation will ever find the answer to this basic question of our lives is in one area and that is religion. I realize this sounds very square in this modern society of ours, but at the expense of being called "square," I stand convinced of this.

I thoroughly agree with you that the rewards of this life are based on what you do and accomplish for others. If you look at all the greed and selfishness in the world around you, it is easy to see what is wrong with this great United States of ours. Every segment of our society and every person in our country is looking out only for itself or himself. We really do not have a United States, but a completely divided set of states. I feel a large part of this is due to what is being taught not only in the schools but in every segment of society. We are teaching our children and ourselves to get everything out of life that we can. We have convinced ourselves that life owes us a living.

We are also teaching the completely foolish idea that we are free. We are never free, not even in a free society as ours. We all are responsible to those around us and to our country. We have just seen a very good example of what irresponsibility can do at the Democratic National Convention. We saw selfishness at its greatest and how it destroys the very being of a person.

So if you look at the religious statistics of our country in which half of the people feel that religion has no place in our modern society, then you can soon see why our country is slowly destroying itself. This great country of ours was founded on a religious heritage by our forefathers who were not ashamed to call on the name of God, and the only way we will ever get the true principles by which men can live with one another is through religious training and following the example of our only true Master.

Congress' Oldsters Opposed To Reform

WASHINGTON — A classic confrontation between youth and age is developing in the House of Representatives over legislative reforms. Kindly old Speaker John McCormack has marked the reforms for a quiet burial. Dynamic, young Rep. Donald Rumsfeld, R-Ill., is determined to dig them up.

McCormack is fronting for the committee chairmen, who hold the real power on Capitol Hill. They are inclined to run their committees like feudal baronies.

Most committee chairmen are past the 65-year mandatory retirement age that the majority of private corporations set for their executives. In the Senate, 10 of the chairmen are past 65; six are over 70. The situation is much the same in the House, where eleven of the 20 chairmen are past 65 and seven are past 70. Yet these are the men who are supposed to stimulate our youth, to get America going.

Most chairmen also come from small towns or rural areas. Thus has Congress entrusted the explosive problems of our great cities to men from another time and place.

The flow of legislation is controlled by Senate Rules Chairman Everett Jordan, 72, of Saxapahaw, N.C., and House Rules Chairman Wiliam Colmer, 78, of Pascagoula, Miss. Most bills dealing with the cities are processed by Senate Labor and Welfare Chairman Lister Hill, 73, of Montgomery, Ala., and House Education and Labor Chairman Carl Perkins, 55, of Hindman, Ky.

No wonder the people of the ghettos and the youth of the country feel that their cries are ignored and that they must resort to violence to be heard. It will be interesting to see whether Rumsfeld can rally enough young dissidents in the House to overcome the throttle hold of the old chairmen of legislation.

☆ ☆ ☆

There is an infernal loathing for reform on Capitol Hill. Reformers like Rumsfeld and Joe Resnick, D-N.Y., are put in their place. The old codgers who run Congress simply won't brook interference.

They are arrogant, arbitrary and abstruse. Anyone who watched the Democratic convention on television got an insight into their ways. For the same men who rule the House also ran the convention, and they showed the same intolerance for unauthorized views.

In Miami Beach, the call for reform never got beyond the hearing room. Any reference to congressional ethics was ruled out by Illinois Sen. Everett Dirksen, the Republican platform chairman, who has always battled inside the Senate against reforms.

In Chicago, Vice President Humphrey at least put up a battle for a congressional ethics plank. He directed his staff representative, William Welsh, to draft a strong plank calling for reforms. This was pushed vigorously by the Humphrey forces, but they were overruled by Louisiana's Rep. Hal Boggs, the Democratic platform chairman.

JAMES RESTON

Argument Of Violence Loses Ground As Only Counter-Measures Develop

NEW YORK — Men are resorting to violence these days because, we are told, hey have no peaceful and legal remedies for their grievances. It is a common complaint heard all the way from Chicago to Vietnam, and from Moscow to Suez and Nigeria, but violence doesn't seem to be working either. The record of the past few years, in fact, is very bad, indeed.

Nobody has found any remedy through violence in Vietnam. The Arab armies tried it against Israel and were destroyed, and even the violent counter-violence of the Israelis has left them in a state of profound insecurity.

The Chinese communists resorted to military force to achieve their internal political objectives and are now in disarray. Moscow invaded Czechoslovakia to unify its empire in Eastern Europe and now finds that empire more divided than before.

Even in the United States, it would be hard to prove that the protestors, once they crossed the line from peaceful dissent and civil protest to violent confrontation, have helped their cause or removed or diminished their grievances.

☆ ☆ ☆

Pressure in politics works, up to a point. The peaceful demonstrations of the American Negroes did produce some legal remedies in the fifties and in the first half of the sixties. Without them, who is to say that the indifference and legal inequality of the last 100 years would have been removed?

But violent pressure in politics, as in physics, tends to produce counter-violence and counter-pressure. We saw it at the Bay of Pigs, in Vietnam, in the Sinai Desert, in Biafra, in Chicago—and we are now seeing the reaction to all this violence and lawlessness in the presidential campaign.

The reaction has been building up for a long time. The violence abroad and at home has created an alarming sense of insecurity and a longing for order at almost any price. The grievances have not been removed but increased by the violence, which is being used now not only as an excuse for more violence, but as an excuse for ignoring the grievances that produced the violence at home in the first place.

Vice President Humphrey and former Vice President Nixon almost seem irrelevant to the problem. Mr. Nixon is talking about the effects of the violence — the insecurity of the cities — while Mr. Humphrey is at least talking more about the causes of the violence — the economic and spiritual poverty of the underclass in the slums.

Neither of them, however, is generating much enthusiasm for neither has yet put forward a convincing program for dealing with the scope of violence. Mr. Nixon is offering us more cops and more war. Mr. Humphrey is offering us more Lyndon Johnson, and George Wallace is getting more emotion from his audiences than anybody else because he is denouncing everything and everybody in sight.

It is going to take a whole lot more than George Wallace's verbal violence, however, to get us out of our present pickle. He no doubt appeals to the nothing's-good mood of the moment, but the more of this hot air we breathe in the next eight weeks, the less prepared we are likely to be for the solemn if unhappy choice that has been bade between Mr. Nixon and Mr. Humphrey on election day.

The overriding question is how to get at the causes of violence now loose in the world. In the short run, this means keeping right of dissent and public protest short of physical violence for the rest of the campaign so that we can vote in a reasonable and rational way.

In the longer run, it means taking risks for peace, so that the cost of military arms can be reduced and substantial sums of money can be diverted to the causes of poverty and violence. We are not likely to get any risks for peace from Mr. Nixon.

This provides him with a sound platform for the campaign. Neither the violent protestors nor the aggressive communists are popular and many voters confuse the two. But it is a poor platform for governing the country, for it foreshadows more cold war abroad when we need peace, and more division at home when we need reconciliation.

Humphrey's chance — maybe his only chance — is to break out of the cycle of violence, to risk a policy of ending the bombing in North Vietnam, and recapture the peace issue. It is a hard and dangerous choice, surpassed only by the risks of going on as before, but it may be the only way to turn back from the violence that is dividing and wounding the human family.

State Bankers Oppose Branch Banking

By DON WALTON
Star Staff Writer

Members of the Nebraska Bankers Association have voted overwhelmingly to oppose branch banking legislation in the 1969 Unicameral, it was learned Thursday.

The vote "against branch banking in any form" was 340 to 49.

Results of the poll distributed August 19 were confirmed by William H. Osterberg of Omaha, NBA secretary.

Follow Wishes

Responding to the expressed wishes of its members, the association "will oppose any type of branch banking legislation" proposed in the coming session, Osterberg said.

The vote indicates an increase in opposition over the past four years.

A 1964 poll resulted in a 316 to 80 vote against branch banking.

NBA's position appears to fly in the face of Gov. Norbert Tiemann's recent suggestion that the time has come for Nebraska to consider legislation authorizing branch banking.

'Serious Look'

Tiemann,, a banker himself, told a convention of the National Association of Supervisors of State Banks in Honolulu last April that "the day to take a serious look at branch banking for Nebraska has arrived."

The governor was president of the bankers association when the 1964 poll was taken.

Osterberg said the association knows that legislation is already being prepared by proponents of branch banking. Tiemann has said he plans no legislation of his own.

Most of the large banks in Lincoln and Omaha are known to be supporting the legislation.

'Independent'

Nebraska law now requires each bank within a community to be chartered on its own, with an independent capital structure.

Tiemann has said that present banking laws are not providing the necessary capital flow to smaller communities that wish to attract industry because of a lack of flexibility in the banking structure.

"If the fiscal needs of our people are not being met by the exisiting structure, we must create new instrumentalities to fulfill those needs," the governor told the Honolulu conference.

No Action Taken On Prohibiting Golf In Parks

By BOB SCHREPF
Star Staff Writer

A suggested formal prohibition against golf practice in the city parks was tabled Thursday by the City Parks and Recreation Advisory Board.

The question was brought before the board on a written complaint by a Wedgewood area resident who said her son was stopped by a police officer from driving golf balls in Trendwood Park.

Parks and Recreation Director Jim Ager, a golfer himself, indicated he favored a city ordinance backing up an unwritten park department rule prohibiting the use of city parks other than golf courses for that purpose.

Safety Hazard

Driving golf balls "is a tremendous safety hazard and it tears up the ground," Ager said.

He added, "one golfer can preempt a sizeable chunk of park acreage."

Ager admitted, however, that there have been "no reports on anybody being hit by a golf ball — no complaints, because we haven't permitted it."

Advisory board members were inclined to feel the issue raises no major problem.

"If we keep putting regulations on the parks, what good are the parks?" commented Mrs. Frances Beechner.

No Action

The board decided to take no action to recommend an administrative order prohibiting the practice. The motion to table was passed unanimously.

In other action, the board took steps to initiate a city tree-planting program aimed primarily at bolstering the stock of trees lining the streets on city property.

The board will also encourage tree planting on private property, members said.

Time Is Right

City Forester Emilio Fontana said "the moment is right to begin the program . . . the city should take the program by itself."

He said city government should be prepared to spend $12,000 annually to replenish street trees.

A master plan designating types of trees and priority areas will be prepared, he said.

Methods Discussed

Some methods to implement the program discussed were stocking the city greenhouse with seedlings to ready them for replanting elsewhere; City Council regulation of tree planting in new subdivisions and forming tree planting improvement districts, a method that is now on the books.

Board members lauded the city's efforts to control Dutch Elm disease, which has claimed 10,000 trees in Omaha.

Fontana reported that in the last year, 199 out of 11,000 elms on private property have been lost and only 280 out of 25,000 trees on city property have been taken out because of the disease.

Fontana lamented that nothing is being done about Dutch Elm disease in the rural areas around Lincoln.

"It is pitiful to drive outside the city limits and see dead trees by the thousands," he said.

Attitude Change Said Necessary In Housing

By JOAN MCCULLOUGH
Star Staff Writer

Attitudes have to change before legislation and federal programs can make open housing a reality, members of the League of Women Voters concluded Thursday night at the resume session of a workshop on open housing.

"People must realize housing is one of the basic socio-economic problems and not the panacea for all social ills," Col. Herbert Hamilton, director of the Lincoln Housing Authority said.

He cited ignorance as one of the primary causes of bigotry and discrimination, but gave examples of attitude changes in rental dealings in Lincoln in the past year.

Sublets Homes

The Lincoln Housing Authority serves elderly people, low income married students and underprivileged families by leasing homes and subletting them to qualified applicants.

The entire program is financed by federal funds, Hamilton said. The agency has operated through churches and other service organizations to make contact with people desiring help, he said.

The cooperation and rapport between the realtors, the property owners, and the recipients have been very encouraging, he said.

Upgrading of property is another asset of the program Hamilton mentioned. Community improvement will be the outcome of these double aims, he said.

By Association

People moving into better housing will gain some motivation by association with the people around them, he said. Such acquaintances will encourage them to maintain property and continue education.

Lincoln does not have what is recognized by the federal government as a "workable" program, Hamilton said. Of the seven requirements, Lincoln meets all except a minimum housing ordinance, which was defeated by a city vote last November. If Lincoln qualified, the office would have access to more federal funds, Hamilton said.

Lincoln has the opportunity not to make the same mistakes other cities have in the past, he said.

Panel members at the day long conference included Norman Krivosha, an attorney who spoke on housing legislation; Mrs. Hughes Shanks; Frank Harrington, a realtor and Dr. George Underwood, City-County Health Department director.

PICKARD . . . and his wife Mildred.

Peace Corpsman, 78, Is Not Ready To Retire

Omaha (AP) — Clarence Pickard, 78, the oldest member of the Peace Corps, is back from India and isn't looking for any rocking chairs.

Pickard said here Thursday he is looking for a new way to help mankind. If he can't find one right away he may work his Indianola, Iowa, farm.

Tentative plans to return to school were vetoed by his wife Mildred, 73, who said if her husband's present education isn't enough, it's too late now.

Pickard has been an aviator, farmer and college professor — in addition to his two-year stint with the Peace Corps in Bulandshahr, India.

Mrs. Pickard, a retired schoolteacher, taught women kindergarten theory, nutrition and other homemaking skills, while her husband was busy working with Indians in poultry raising, grain storage and food production.

The couple lived in one room, which at times served as an overnight storage area for bicycles and once was a three-week home for 36 baby chicks Pickard had ordered from Des Moines, Iowa.

Age No Handicap

The Pickards said their ages were no handicap, except that they didn't learn the language as swiftly as volunteers fresh out of college.

The only injury —Pickard's knee sprain — came when Pickard and his wife slipped into a ditch at an Embassy party.

The reason for their volunterring is simple as put by Pickard. "We had worked all our lives and got more satisfaction from work and achievement rather than trying to amuse ourselves at shuffleboard or seabathing or hunting new kinds of liquors."

County Board Invites Editorialists To Attend Voting Machine Talks

Lancaster County Commissioners Thursday issued an invitation to editorial page staffs of both the Lincoln Star and the Lincoln Journal to appear at next week's board meeting in connection with the voting machine controversy.

In a letter sent to the papers, the board asked that they provide the commissioners with any information that they have regarding the voting machines.

The invitation stems from newspaper editorials opposing the county board's position in rejecting Election Commissioner Dean Petersen's budget request to purchase voting machines used in the May primary election.

House OKs $72.2 Billion Defense Bill

. . . HAWKS, DOVES BOTH FAIL TO MAKE AMENDMENTS

Washington (AP) — A record $72.2-billion defense appropriation bill cleared the House by overwhelming vote Thursday after numberous efforts to change it were snowed under.

A roll-call vote of 334 to 7 sent the measure to the Senate after hawks failed to increase it, doves failed to cut it, and others lost fights to restrict use of the money.

The result was a thumping victory for the House Appropriations Committee, which said none of the $4.8 billion it originally trimmed from the measure would affect U.S. military operations in Vietnam.

The bill provides financing for the fiscal year ending next June 30 for 3,477,500 military personnel as well as for procurement of more planes, ships, missiles and other military hardware

The closest the committee came to defeat was preliminary approval by standing vote of 52 to 46 of a "Buy American" amendment offered by Rep. Durward G. Pall, R-Mo.

The amendment would have barred purchase of military aircraft or major component parts outside the United States.

Committee Chairman George H. Mahon, D-Tex., called the amendment "irresponsible parochialism," and the House defeated it by a roll call vote of 268 to 73.

Mahon told the House one effect of Hall's proposal would be to prevent purchase of British-made ejection seats for the F4 fighter plane.

"In order to save a small contract in his own district," Mahon added, "the gentleman from Missouri (Hall) would disrupt a multibillion-dollar contract."

Other amendments defeated included these:

Rep. William Fitts Ryan, D-N.Y., for an across-the-board cut of about $6 billion; lost by standing vote of 68 to 7.

Rep. George E. Brown Jr., D-Calif., to prohibit bombing or land invasion of North Vietnam without a formal state of war; defeated by voice vote.

Rep. Jeffery Cohelan, D-Caif., to cut $387.4 million from the Sentinel antiballistic missile program; rejected by voice vote.

Rep. Samuel S. Stratton, D-N.Y., to add $38 million for Navy research in antisubmarine warfare programs; defeated by standing vote of 31 to 11.

Rep. Sidney R. Yates, D-Ill., to halt sales of surplus guns and ammunition to National Rifle Association members; defeated by voice vote. To halt use of defense funds to finance hunting and fishing preserves on military reservations; defeated by standing vote of 31 to 12.

Drug Provides Relief From Bizarre Disease

Miami, Fla. (AP) — An inexpensive drug extracted from a bean used for livestock feed has brought "definite to dramatic" relief to victims of Parkinson's disease, one of the world's most bizarre and baffling afflictions, the National Parkinson Institute said Thursday.

In an experimental program now nine months old, doctors reported that a majority of 40 patients treated showed dramatic improvement. Twisted bodies began to straighten, lost powers of speech were regained, and mental alertness was sharpened.

All but 10% of the patients were definitely helped, said the institute's medical director, Dr. Frank Fabiana.

The drug was extracted by Dr. Ernest A. Spiegel of Temple University from a bean with the scientific name vicia fabia. Commonly called the "horse bean," it is grown in the United States and other countries as a livestock fodder.

Soon after he started taking the drug, one patient who had been able to speak only with great difficulty because of rigid vocal organs could talk almost normally, doctors reported.

Another who had long been unable to get out of bed without help could do so easily soon after treatments were started. Still another who could not write because of rigid hands regained the ability in three weeks, they said.

Dr. Spiegel, who developed the extract after four months of research in the Miami institute's laboratory, said it is almost identical to the synthetic drug dopa. In limited experiments in the last two years, dopa has shown ability to ease the disabling symptoms of Parkin's disease.

Motion To Dismiss Tax Petition Challenge Overruled By Judge

Objections and challenges by the state to rejected signatures on anti-income tax petitions were introduced into evidence Thursday with the income tax foes expected to present rebuttal evidence when the hearing resumes at 9 a.m. Monday.

Lancaster District Judge William Hastings overruled a motion by the state to dismiss the case on grounds that the itemized statement of the relator (income tax foes bring the action) was insufficient.

Evidence presented in the action which challenges Secretary of State Frank Marsh's decision not to allow the anti-income tax issue on the November ballot was the culmination of two week's preparation in written form of objections to each rejected signature.

To expedite matters, parties had agreed to allow the state to categorize all objections to eliminate the court's having to rule on each rejected signature and to merely rule on the objections by category.

Supporters of the anti-income tax petition contend that Marsh changed the deadline from July 5 to July 3 without prior public notice and for this reason 2,655 signatures were thrown out which should have been accepted.

They contend that they believed that July 5 was the deadline and that Marsh should have given them ample notice of the change.

Marsh had testified that the election calendar listing the July 5 deadline for filing petitions to place an initiative petition on the November ballot is distributed for the purpose or coordinating the conduct of elections but is not official.

Will reading assignments be a problem this year?

The skills we teach enable you to read faster, understand and remember more of what you read

RAPID READING . . . In Reading Dynamics you learn to read faster naturally — without mechanical devices and without losing the enjoyment or flavor of reading. Nor do you skim or skip. You triple your present rate by taking in entire thoughts at one time.

FLEXIBILITY . . . You learn to adjust your reading speed according to the difficulty of the material, your background in the material, and your purpose in reading the material. Different techniques are taught for novels, texts, journals, newspapers, magazines, etc.

CONCENTRATION . . . Concentration while reading and studying is very difficult for many people who read slowly. Rapid reading requires close attention, and concentration quickly improves so that students are not easily distracted.

COMPREHENSION . . . As concentration increases, comprehension improves. In addition, you learn to read expectantly for the author's concepts to which important facts and details may be attached. The result is greater depth of comprehension.

RETENTION . . . A very important measure of your reading ability is how much you remember. Retention is improved by reading for concepts, by using recall patterns, by maintaining a high level of concentration, and by remembering by association.

ORGANIZATION . . . The first vital step in studying is organization. We teach the student how to organize and use varied texts, supplements, suggested readings and class notes.

CONCISE NOTE TAKING . . . Recall techniques organize a conference or lecture as it occurs, eliminating voluminous notes and reorganizing. Recall patterns are especially valuable if the presentation is not concise and if your mind wanders.

SUPPLEMENTAL READING . . . Many people limit their education because they barely have time for required reading. Being able to read widely adds interest and depth to your understanding.

INDEPENDENT STUDY AND RESEARCH . . . The real reward of education is the accumulation of knowledge. Our techniques allow you to continue your education at your own pace.

A Lifetime Reading and Study Program

After completing the basic course, you continue to attend weekly practice sessions as often as you wish without cost.

Students bring their homework to the sessions and get a head start on each week's school assignments.

Businessmen bring their "in-boxes" and periodical reading and get some of their work out of the way.

Many people work on their Independent Study Projects.

Others attend these sessions for the pure enjoyment of reading new books and discussing the author's ideas with members of the class.

Special counseling is available where necessary.

These sessions provide a stimulating environment which will help you discover your potential for learning.

$8.6 Million Savings For DAS Outlined

By Associated Press

Gov. Norbert Tiemann's Little Hoover Commission Thursday offered suggestions which would mean an $8.6 million annual savings in the operations connected to the Department of Administrative Services.

The commission commended the Legislature for creating the department which is responsible for many centralized state administrative and fiscal services.

"The department should become the governor's most valuable assistant, the information arm of the Legislature and an indispensable servant of all state departments," the commission said.

The department has not existed long enough to realize its full potential, the study committee on state government business practices said.

Two Parts

Recommendations on the department are being released in two parts due to the vast territory which DAS covers. The first report was released Thursday.

Among the suggestions was a reduction of one per cent of state agencies budgets through using methods which would provide more efficient operations.

A one per cent decrease would cut the budget $2 million, based on the estimated $200 million in state expenditures subject to financial controls.

Improvements in routine work flow and performance resulting from a clerical work program could bring savings of $2 million without impairing the quality of work performed, the commission said.

Improving purchasing and buying techniques could save $2.5 million a year, the investigation preducted.

$2.1 Million Savings

Another $2.1 million savings could be realized with a statewide computer network, simplified procedures for paying state bills, centralized licensing utilizing computers, eliminated duplication of administrative functions, reorganized state purchasing procedures and a study of institutional food services and costs.

On the newly-created Personnel Department, the Hoover Commission urged the state personnel program be developed quickly. The program will yield substantial savings to all agencies and departments, it was said.

The Little Hoover Commission also recommended a consulting firm should be employed for about $50,000 to help develop the state classification of employes and pay scale program.

The Personnel Department also should establish promotion, transfer and other basic personnel policies, the commission said.

Year's Speakers At NU Will Cover Wide Range Of Topics

Speakers at the University of Nebraska this school year will cover current interests in the United States from the presidential election to the "inside story" on sports.

The first speaker of the year will be Carl Stokes, the first Negro mayor of Cleveland and a speaker at the recent Democratic National Convention. He will talk to students Oct. 22.

Dr. Walter Heller of St. Paul, Minn., Hubert Humphrey's economic advisor, will speak at the Union Oct. 24, shortly before the national presidential election.

Heller was the late President John F. Kennedy's chief economic adviser and a past chairman of the economics department at the University of Minnesota.

The successful defense lawyer for Dr. Sam Sheppard, F. Lee Bailey, will speak at the University Nov. 14.

At 33, Bailey has had just six years of legal practice before the bar, but he opened an investigative agency while studying law at Boston University and following graduation served for three years as a staff legal officer in the Marine Corps.

Appearing Dec. 5 will be Michael Novak, chairman of the Common Humanities Seminar at the new experimental campus of the State University of New York on Long Island.

His books, which include "A New Generation," "The Open Church," "Belief and Unbelief" and "A Time to Build," have attracted internatonal attention.

Ralph Nader, lawyer and outspoken critic of autosafety legislation, will speak Dec. 12.

He has been instrumental in bringing about many of the changes in the automobile industry to produce safer cars and reduce highway deaths and has worked on legal problems and policies of highway safety and automobile design.

Author of the bst-seller "Paper Lion," George Ames Plimpton, will speak on Feb. 20.

Plimpton's book told of his experiences playing quarterback with the Detroit Lions.

Not satisfied to merely witness and report on major athletes, Plimpton tries to understand what makes them tick, to fell the emotions they experience and to undergo the mental and often physical punishment they endure.

Jim Garrison

District Attorney Jim Garrison of New Orleans will be on the campus Apr. 1.

Garrison has come to national attention since he began his investigation into the assassination of President Kennedy.

Two other speakers will appear on campus in connection with the Model United Nations, Dec. 13 and 14.

Former Nebraskan

One is ofrmer Nebraskan, Dr. Darrell Randall who has just completed a study of Africa for the United Nations, including the apartheid problem ad the Biafra-Nigerian situation.

He will address the United Nations on Dec. 7 on his investigatons and then bring parts of that report to the Model United Nations at the Nebraska Center Dec. 13, according to Carol Madsen, chairman of Union Talks and Topics Committee.

Dr. John G. Stoessinger, director of the Political Affairs Division of the United Nations, will speak to the Model United Nations Dec. 14.

A native of Austria, he escaped from Nazi Germany at age 11 and fled to Czechoslovakia and then to China via Siberia. He came to the United States in 1947.

Educational Television Programs Reaching Over 110,000 Students

More than 110,000 Nebraska students from kindergarten through high school will be getting part of their formal education this year by watching television, the Nebraska Council for Educational Television, Inc. (NCET) reported Thursday.

NCET will be offering a total of 40 educational series in 10 subject areas during the academic year for students in the more than 250 schools which belong to NCET.

Council Director Robert Chapman said the activity will also include in-service education programs for the 5,000 teachers using the NCET telecasts in their classrooms.

Dr. Chapman said this year's broadcast schedule is "easily the finest in the eight-year history of the council."

Is there a cure for hemorrhoids?

Many leading authorities say there is no cure for hemorrhoids short of surgery. But in some cases there is a product that may relieve hemorrhoid pain. Its name is M.P.O.—Mentholatum Pile Ointment. M.P.O. contains Benzocaine, a topical anesthetic hospitals use to soothe burns and skin rash. It can give relief for hours. Get M.P.O. at your drug counter, in ointment or suppositories.

City To Begin Acquisition Of Land For State Building

Lincoln City Atty. Ralph Nelson said Thursday the city will begin full scale acquisition of land Monday on which the new state office building will be located.

"From our standpoint, everything is in order and ready to go," he told the State Building Commission.

The city is constructing the building and will lease it to the state. The state is unable to issue bonds to contruct the building because the state constitution forbids the state to go into debt more than $100,000.

Gov. Norbert T. Tiemann said the question of whether the building will be connected to the Capitol building by a tunnel has not been resolved yet.

He said he would like to see construction of the building underway by January, when the Legislature convenes. Tiemann is opposed to construction of a tunnel, which some persons favor because of heavy traffic on streets which will separate the new building from the capitol.

"If we had a hole dug, it would show we're serious about getting this thing done," Tiemann told the commission.

Tiemann said the possibility existed that the Legislature might move the site of the building to south of the Capitol if the tunnel were not built.

He said, however, he has "no basis for a judgement they would move it." The governor said he has not talked to any legislators about the matter and "I don't mean to criticize them."

Enrollment At Union College Slightly Lower Than 1967

Enrollment at Union College dropped slightly from last year, according to fall semester reports issued Thursday.

A total of 1,026 students are enrolled at Union for the first semester, including 40 students in the nursing program at Porter Memorial Hospital in Denver, Colo.

The Seventh Day Adventist school opened the year this week with 14 new faculty members for a total of 84 administrative and instuctional personnel.

Union College President Dr. Ray W. Fowler said the main reason for the enrollment decrease is that Southwestern Union College in Keene, Tex., became a four-year college this year.

Previously, the Lincoln school served as the "senior college" for Seventh Day Adventists students from Texas, Arkansas, Louisiana, Oklahoma and New Mexico who probably will not be transferring here, Fowler explained.

Union is the primary Seventh Day Adventist school for students from North and South Dakota, Minnesota, Colorado, Iowa, Missouri, Kansas, Wyoming and Nebraska.

Th president also indicated that the tuition increase may have affected enrollment slightly.

However, he expects the total to be higher at the end of the three-week entrance period.

3 Denver Men Waive Hearing On Drug Count

Three Denver men waived preliminary hearing in Lancaster County Court Thursday on marijuana possession charges and were bound over to district court for arraignment and possible trial.

Bonds of $1,000 each were continued for the defendants — Robert M. Maher, 22; James Akins, 20, and Thomas William Carmody, 21.

Two other persons charged in connection with the same marijuana harvesting incident last month had waived preliminary hearing earlier. They are Mark F. Fraser of Monterrey, Calif., and Mary Elizabeth Cain, 20, of Davenport, Iowa.

The arrests occurred Aug. 27 after a farmer notified authorities of activity in a farm field.

Deputy Sheriff Gerald Herndon said approximately 100 pounds of marijuana had been picked and stacked in a pile.

New Swim Pool Given Alliance Council's Okay

Alliance (AP) — The Alliance City Council, on a 3-2 vote, has approved construction of a new municipal swimming pool for $197,332.

The plan is subject to approval by the State Game Commission which must review the plans before the city can collect $114,750 alloted to the project by the Federal Bureau of Outdoor Recreation.

Dobson Brothers Construction Co. of Lincoln is the contractor for the pool to be located north of the new Alliance High School vocational technical building. Arthur Dobson said work is expected to start next month with completion in time for a Memorial Day opening.

William Galbraith May Join Nixon Campaign Staff

Retiring National American Legion Commander William Galbraith of Beemer is expected to be named to a key post in the Richard M. Nixon campaign organization.

Announcement is expected Saturday of Galbraith's appointment as National Chairman of Veterans for Nixon.

Galbraith would be expected to tour the country in Nixon's behalf.

Galbraith's one-year term as commander of the American Legion ended Thursday in ceremonies at the national convention in New Orleans.

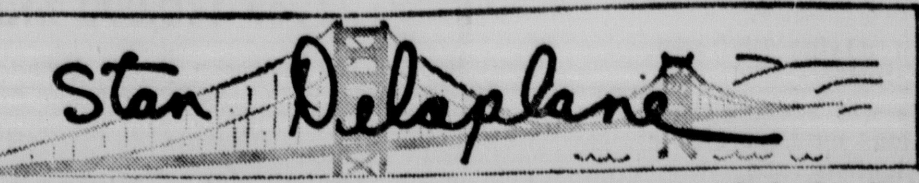
POSTCARD by Stan Delaplane



"Ever'body building new hotels. New condiminiums," said a Hawaiian boy I know from long time at Hanalei. "Plenty of action on dis island Kauai. We even got hippies now."

Well, this is how it changes in the islands of hot and cold running hula dancers. The high-rise has come to Hawaii. The hippie has come to Paradise.

You can turn off the trade winds if you like. Buy Japanese-made air conditioning down in Lihue, the old plantation town, and close the windows.

☆ ☆ ☆

"By 1970, Hawaii will get a million tourists!" I wrote that in 1965 — a proud and direct quote from the tourist bureau.

Hawaii went over the million in 1967. Thus catching the hotel people by surprise and embarrassingly short of rooms.

Still short today. Though new hotels have been built, and more are going up on every island, it will be five years before tourists and hotel rooms come out even.

☆ ☆ ☆

"Can't give personal service anymo'," said a hotel beach boy at Waikiki. (The beach "boys" have been there so long many of them are grandfathers.)

"Tips pretty good, suah. But sometimes don't seem like old days. Mo' work. Some times seem too many people."

In pre-jet days, most of us came here by ship and departed the same way.

When we arrived, the outgoing people had their bags in the lobby. They sat on the lanai, having a last maitai. And out of their golden suntans, they sneered at our white malihini legs.

Two weeks later, our bags were in the lobby. We had a last maitai. The new, pale tourists arrived. And we sneered at them from our sun-browned kamaaina knowledge of the islands.

☆ ☆ ☆

The beach boys had become our personal friends — (and had it all figured out).

"You remember dose times?" asked the Waikiki beach boy. "We say goodbye. Dey say goodbye. Give us big tip. Dey leave hotel — we all playing ukuleles. Aloha!

"Den big surprise! We go down to ship. Band at Aloha Tower is playing 'Ahoha Oe.' Dose tourist see us, dey cry all over again.

"We play ukulele wit' song beach boys make up: 'Goodbye Honolulu, you been mighty good to me.'

"Oh, now duh tourists cry like babies! Now he give us anodder big tip. We get enough money fo' get drunk two, t'ree days! We give each customer one aloha lei. Personal service.

"Duh ship sails. Ever'body cast lei into water. If it float back to shore, he's coming back to Hawaii. Dose lei come ashore all right. Some dose boys who dive for coins, he's follow and pick up best leis from water.

"He's dry dem out and sell to new tourists dat night!"

"You think this is something?" said a travel agency man. "Wait until the jumbo jets start landing 400 people at a clip in 1970."

☆ ☆ ☆

The mainland hippies who came to Kauai have rented a big, old warehouse. There's some friction with local boys. These are very moral islands. There are 38 churches on Kauai and only a half dozen bars.

"I hear dey share dose girls an' nobody get jealous," said the Filipino barber. In his islands, if you fool around with somebody's girl, her boyfriend is apt to stick a Batangas knife in your navel, and walk around you holding onto the handle.

Choosing Glasses Children Like,
at Parent-Pleasing Prices, is just KID STUFF at Pearle!

At Pearle Optical, the young set makes the scene, cheerfully. We know how to make choosing glasses an occasion to remember. We've learned that Little Girls have their own idea of what Style is all about. (And heaven help the brave parents who try to dissuade them!) As for Little Boys? They could care less about Style. Sure, they want a frame that looks good, but there's a world out there waiting for them. And, wistfully, we've watched Little Girls and Little Boys grow up. So, we anticipate it, and try to make it easier. No matter how old young folks are, we have the quality glasses they need for good vision, and the selection they like.

At Pearle Optical, the choice is theirs. The confidence is yours.

Normal Board To Meet Co-Ordinator Prospects

Wayne (UPI) —The State Normal Board will interview three persons Friday and Saturday who are candidates for the position of co-ordinator of the state normal schools, Dr. Gordon W. Shupe said Thursday.

Dr. Shupe, a board member who is heading the subcommittee appointed to screen candidates for the position, said it is "possible" one of the three will be named Saturday to succeed Dr. Freeman B. Decker, who left the post July 1.

None of the three men is from Nebraska, though at least one of them has lived in Nebraska for a while, he said. He said all three men are educators with some administrative experience.

Dr. Shupe said his subcommittee has not contacted any person to ask the person if he is interested in the job.

"We have placed notices in placement bureaus of schools where they train persons for this type of job," he said. "For example, the University of Michigan has a strong administrative program and we notifeid their placement office of the opening."

Dr. Shupe said he has received inquiries from all over the country about the job, though not all inquiries have been followed up by those making them. He said those inquiring about the job included the president of a college from outside Nebraska.

Shupe said speculation the Legislature will abolish the post of co-ordinator has not affected the search for a new co-ordinator.

"No one from the Legislature has advised us that this will happen," he said. "We don't know where the rumor comes from, but until we are told by a legislator there is some substance to it we'll have to ignore it."

Suburbia Needs No Good Luck Token

For those who believe in such good luck tokens as rabbits' feet, four-leaf clovers and horse-shoes, we'd like to suggest that this is the weekend to bring them out of storage and put them to use. In that way perhaps Friday the 13th will go by without incident, and Saturday the 14th will witness a Cornhusker football victory over the Wyoming Cowboys!

Included on the list of Suburbia's late-summer vacationers are Mr. and Mrs. John E Hartz and family of Maple Village. Mr. and Mrs. Hartz and children, Scott and Kristi, returned on Wednesday, Sept. 4, from a five-day camping trip to Tuttle Creek and Manhatten, Kan.

As sad as it may seem to some, we must all face the fact that the season of "fun in the sun" has just about come to an end — the shortening days and falling thermometer indicate without a doubt that autumn has begun.

One suburban couple who decided to make the farewell to summer as joyous an occasion as possible were Mr. and Mrs. Russell L. Kisling. Last Friday evening, Mr. and Mrs. Ksiling were host and hostess for an "end of summer" party which was attended by a group of friends and neighbors.

Football weekends are traditional times for entertaining in Lincoln, and we're sure that there will be a great deal of that going on today and tomorrow. However, Park Manor residents Mr. and Mrs. Myrlen Moon did their entertaining last weekend as they hosted some out-of-town visitors. Arriving for a short stay were Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Miller of Nevada, Iowa; and Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Miller of Albuquerque, N.M.

One of the newest, and we might add most appealing, members of the Park Manor community is Miss Lynn Marie Mumby, brand new daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Geoffrey Mumby. Miss Lynn made her debut on Sept. 5 at St. Elizabeth's Hospital weighing in at eight pounds, 13 ounces; and waiting to welcome her home a few days later was her sister, Brenda, who is six years old.

Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Mumby of Fairmont, and Mr. and Mrs. H. Thacker of South Sioux City; and we understand that Mrs. Thacker is presently a guest in the home of her son-in-law and daughter — and a very helpful guest at that, according to Mrs. Mumby!

A new granddaughter has been added to the family of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Adams. The young lady, who arrived on Aug. 21 at Providence Hospital, is Miss Christine Marie Miller, daughter of the Adams' son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Miller.

Paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Carl Miller of Tacoma, Wash., and Mrs. Miller is currently in Lincoln getting axquainted with her new granddaughter.

Guests this week for Mr. and Mrs. Walter VanDeventer have been Mrs. VanDeventer's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Rue and children Wesley, Deborah, Sharon and Jackie of St. Paul, Minn. The Minnesotans have also been visiting with Mr. Rue's mother, Mrs. Nora Rue in Humboldt; and on Sunday, the VanDeventers will accompnay the Rues to Grand Island, where they will be the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Basil Rue.

Talk Around Town

We keep wondering who started that old rumor about Friday, the 13th — Someday, when we have an extra split second, we'll do some research — but not this morning.

The weekend is to be a gay one, of course, and guests will begin their invasion of the city today —

* * *

A Saturday bride, Miss Kristine Weber, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Harry Weber, isn't giving the date or the day too much thought. This evening she, and the bridegroom, Jack Portenier, will be honored by Mr. Portenier's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Dale Portenier of Hastings, when they preside at dinner at the University Club in prenuptial courtesy to their son and Miss Weber.

The guest list will include members of the family and the bridal party, and the bridal party, incidentally includes a member of the family, Mrs. David Frank of Belpre, Ohio, who is to be her sister's matron of honor. Gerald Gronewald of Omaha will serve as best man.

The cermony will be solemnized at the home of the bride's parents.

* * *

On Wednesday evening Miss Weber and Mr. Portenier shared honors when Mr. and Mrs. Craig O'Brien entertained members of the family at dinner at their home.

* * *

As we said a few paragraphs back — Guests will be invading Lincoln this weekend — And will participate in all of the pre-and post-game festivities here, there and everywhere.

A guest contingent is arriving today from Gering to be game and weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. Bus Whitehead.

In the group will be Mrs. Whitehead's sister, Mrs. Kay Rothenberger and her daughter, Jana; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Fancher, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Cannell and Dr. and Mrs. Stuart Wiley.

* * *

The real weekend invasion involves Mr. and Mrs. Howard Hadley who will have a guest list of 20, and out of the 20, 16 are from Mrs. Hadley's former home town, Scottsbluff.

Arriving on Friday from Scottsbluff will be Mr. and Mrs. Paul Morrison, Mr. and Mrs. William Kinney, Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Berggren, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Kosman, Dr. and Mrs. J. P. Heinke, Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Shaver, Mr. and Mrs. Dale Adams and Mrs. Eldridge Scriven—

And there are more — but not from Scottsbluff — Coming from Torrington, Wyo., to join the group will be Mr. and Mrs. Lester Maxfield, and from Columbus will come Mr. and Mrs. Noyes Rogers.

On Saturday Mr. and Mrs. Hadley will honor their guests at a pre-game luncheon at their home.

Brides Of Late Summer

At a candlelight ceremony, solemnized on Tuesday, Aug. 27, the marriage of Miss Peggy Wehrman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John C. Wehrman of Nelson, to Gary Garbeling, son Mrs. Alda B. Gerbeling of Nora, took place at the First Christian Church in Nelson. The 7 o'clock double-ring service was read by the Rev. Victor O. Schwarz, and the wedding music was played by Mrs. Homer B. Wehrman, aunt of the bride. Miss Elizabeth Wehrman was the vocal soloist.

The two attendants were Miss Virginia Wehrman, who was her sister's maid of honor, and bridesmatron Mrs. Bruce Fox of San Diego, Calif. Their floor-length costumes were of peau de sole, the blue tone for the maid of honor, and green for the bridesmatron. Each carried a nosegay of white pompons.

Sgt. Alan Lantham of Shreveport, La., served as best man, and seating the guests were Michael Campbell of McCook; Dan Smith of Beatrice and Roger Williams of Nora.

The bride appeared in a gown of white organza and Chantilly lace. The fitted bodice was fashioned with long lace sleeves and a sabrina neckline contoured with the lace. The extremely wide skirt was created of lace and tulle, and was given accentuated bouffancy by the tiers of lace flounces. The lace also bordered the Watteau train which extended into chapel length. A crown of seed pearls held to the head her veil of silk illusion, and she carried a bouquet of sweetheart roses and ivy.

Following a brief honeymoon trip, Mr. Gerbeling and his bride returned to Lincoln where they are residing at 1969 Sumner St.

The bride is a senior at the Lincoln General Hospital School of nursing, and Mr. Gerbeling will continue his studies in the field of chemical engineering at the University of Nebraska.

The marriage of Miss Kay Sharon Kenton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas J. Kenton of Gothenburg, to Robert Garold Brass, son of Mr. and Mrs. Loren Brass of Sargent, took place at a 4 o'clock ceremony at St. Thomas Aquinas Church in Lincoln on Saturday, Aug. 31.

Mrs. Joseph W. Kenton Jr., of Skokie, Ill., was the matron of honor, and the bridesmatron was Mrs. John Morse of Sargent. Miss Trudy Brass, also of Sargent, was the junior bridesmaid. The attendants wore alike frocks in blending shades of blue, and each carried a large, single chrysanthemum.

Capt. William Brass of Abilene, Tex., served his brother as best man, and the groomsmen and ushers included Thomas J. Kenton Jr., of Gothenburg, brother of the bride; Delmar Brass of Sargent; Thomas O'Neill, Al Smith, both of Lincoln.

The bride appeared in a gown of imported silk organza. Designed in the Empire mode, the short-sleeved bodice was patterned with an overlay of peau d'ange lace which was repeated on the A-line skirt, and also on the detachable circular train which extended from the shoulders into cathedral length. A cluster of illusion petals and medallions of seed pearls and crystals, held to the head her bouffant veil, and she carried a bouquet of yellow roses.

After a honeymoon trip to Colorado Mr. Brass and his bride returned to Lincoln where they will reside at 1905 C St. The bride is a former student at Kearney State College, and was an August graduate of the St. Elizabeth Hospital School of Nursing. Mr. Brass will be graduated in January from the University of Nebraska College of Business Administration.

We Hear That

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Kuditschek have as their house guest Mrs. Kubitschek's sister, Mrs. Garnet East of Palm Desert, Calif. Mrs. East joined her brother-in-law and sister in St. Louis, Mo., when they were visiting their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. David Kubitschek and their children, Mary Cele and David, during the Labor Day weekend.

Attendants, Parties

A September bride-elect is Miss Linda Reger whose marriage to Lawrence Essink is planned for Saturday, Sept. 21.

This morning Miss Reger makes announcement of the bridal attendants including Mrs. Shire Lea Innacone of Long Island, N.Y., who is to be her cousin's matron of honor, and bridesmaids Miss Judy Reger, sister of the bride; Miss Lynn Jensen and Miss Karen Reger. Cheryl Essink is to be the flower girl, and lighting the candles will be Miss Roxi Essink, sister of the bridegroom, and Miss Debbie Shaw.

Serving his brother as best man will be Gene Essink, and seating the guests will be Fred Lovelace, Jim Essink and Wayne Essink. The groomsmen will be Ralph Reger, Jr., brother of the bride, and Mr. Essink's brothers, Ken Essink and Roger Essink. Tod Verhoef will be the ringbearer.

Complimenting Miss Reger this evening will be Mrs. William Lovelace, Mrs. Robert Lovelace and Mrs. Myrrel Radatz who will be hostesses at an informal party and shower at the home of Mrs. Raddatz. The guest list will include members of the family.

Miss Reger will be an honoree next Tuesday evening when Mrs. Glen Thiel entertains at a neighborhood coffee at her home. During the evening the soon-to-be bride will be presented with a shower.

Another of the September brides-elect, Miss Agnes Wise, also is announcing her attendants this morning. Miss Wise, whose marriage to Lance Cpl. David W. Dennis of Columbia, S.C., has chosen Mrs. Frank Wise as her matron of honor. Mrs. Ron Bryant will be the bridesmatron, and the junior bridesmaid will be Miss Barbara Jackson.

Linda Osborn, Bride

Pedestal baskets of white gladioli and spider chrysanthemums were arranged against a background of lighted candles in branched candelabra for the wedding of Miss Linda Gene Osborn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold J. Osborn, and William James, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald B. James of Littleton, Colo., which took place on Thursday evening, Sept. 12, at the Westminster Presbyterian Church.

Alike frocks of crepe in the vermouth tone were worn by the attendants, including Mrs. Pierre Joujon-Roche of Los Angeles, Calif., who was her sister's matron of honor; Miss Nan Webster, the maid of honor, and bridesmaids, Miss Valerie James of Littleton, Colo., sister of the bridegroom; Miss Cathy Holland of Meeker, Colo., Miss Laurie Faulkner, Miss Ann Walcott, Miss Tedda Watts, and Mrs. Raymond Osborn.

Michael Biddinger of Littleton, Colo., served as best man, and the corps of ushers included Lt. Raymond Osborn, Steven Osborn, Clifton Walcott, Robert Wise of Little, Colo.; David Meisinger of Kersey, Colo.; George Mathews of Denver, Colo., and Steven Reddick of Colorado Springs, Colo.

Silk ottoman fashioned the gown chosen by the bride. In the princess silhouette mode, the gown was fashioned with long, close fitting sleeves and a jewel neckline, and was widely traced in a vertical fleuretvone applique of seed beads, seed pearls and cording that extended the length of the slender skirt.

After a honeymoon trip to Madeline Island, Wis., Mr. James and his bride will go to Ft. Collins, Colo., where both will be seniors at Colorado State University, and where the bride is a member of Kappa Alpha Theta sorority.

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 NT	Pass	3 NT	Pass
Pass	Pass

Opening lead — queen of hearts.

Advocates of the weak notrump, usually played as showing 12 to 14 points, tend to take liberties with this theoretical range and sometimes find themselves opening a notrump on only 10 or 11 high-card points (especially when the vulnerability is favorable).

This tendency was noticeable even in the Women's Championship of the 1968 Olympiad, as illustrated by this hand from the South Africa-Italy match.

South Africa surprised practically everyone by taking a big lead early in the Women's event, and even though they eventually finished second (to Sweden), they nevertheless showed themselves to be of championship caliber.

When Gerda Goslar and Rita Jacobson were North-South for South Africa, the bidding went as shown. Mrs. Jacobson was undoubtedly light for her opening notrump bid, and Mrs. Goslar's raise to three notrump was also offbeat, though a good gamble. But together they achieved a highly satisfactory result even though their contract went down four — 200 points — when East-West scored their obvious eight tricks straight away.

At the other table, where Alma Shnieder and Petra Mansell were East-West for South Africa, the bidding went:

South	West	North	East
Pass	Pass	3 ♣	3 ♦
4 ♣	4 ♦	Pass	4 ♥
Pass	Pass	5 ♣	Pass
Pass	5 ♥

Three diamonds by Mrs. Shnieder was an artificial bid equivalent to a takeout double of three clubs, and Mrs. Mansell's four diamond response showed a genuine suit.

East bid four hearts over four diamonds, and later became declarer at five hearts, which she easily made for a score of 650 points. The South Africans thus made a net gain of 450 points on the deal as a result of their peppery bidding at both tables.

Club Meetings

The first fall meeting of the Women's Division of the Chamber of Commerce will be a dinner which will be held on Wednesday, Sept. 19, at the Miller and Paine Tea Room.

Following the dinner, scheduled for 6:30 o'clock, Mrs. Gladys Douglass will speak. Her topic is "What Will You Read This Fall."

The Norwood Park Parent-Teachers Association has a meeting planned for 7:30 o'clock on Thursday evening, Sept. 17, in the Norwood Park School auditorium.

Another Lincoln club is beginning its new season with election of officers for 1969. Although they won't begin their duties until January, officers were elected by the Domestic Dames Extension Club on Tuesday, Sept. 10 when the group met at the home of Mrs. Dean Wiegert with Mrs. Roger Wendeln as co-hostess.

Mrs. Ken Lempka was elected president with Mrs. Wendeln as vice-president, Mrs. Tom Drbal as secretary, Mrs. Dick Svoboda as treasurer and Mrs. Robert Converse as historian.

Abby

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I am so burned up right now I could be treated for 3rd degree burns.

Last week, seven girls and I were to be in a big church wedding which never took place. All of us girls had paid for our own gowns, shoes to match, head pieces, and accessories, which came to a nice sum. FOUR days before the wedding the bride changed her mind and called the wedding off!

I think it's the bride's duty to pay us girls back for the money we forked out. Only two of the other girls agree with me. What do you think?

BURNED

DEAR BURNED: I think it would be lovely if all the brides who "changed their minds" were able to reimburse the girls for the money they "forked out." Unfortunately, few are. I'm afraid you are out of luck and out of pocket. I don't blame you for being "burned up," but try to cool off before you make an ash of yourself.

DEAR ABBY: I am a widow, having raised a fine family. They're all over 21 now. Their father has been gone since they were mere babies. I had no financial help, so it has been a struggle.

My husband died in a sanitarium from a form of insanity as a result of a social disease. '(I told everyone he had a "stroke" and it affected his brain.)

My children have never questioned their father's illness or death. I have always built him up as a fine man. He was, in a way, but he paid with his life for his indiscretions.

How much should I tell my children? Part of it? Or all of it?

FEELING GUILTY

DEAR FEELING: None of it. I can't think of one good reason for you to now destroy the fine image your children have of their father. In this case your silence is more golden than "guilt."

CONFIDENTIAL TO "WORRIED ABOUT GRAMP:" All men do not get "goofy" after a certain age, but your father sounds as tho he should (A) see a doctor, (B) be carefully watched.

Everybody has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply write to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal., 90069 and enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Playboy Over SI

Sports Illustrated annually ranks near the bottom of the magazines that try to rank football teams before a ball is booted.

Playboy annually ranks at the top which could prove that a magazine specializing in girls knows more about football than a magazine specializing in chess.

Being unfamiliar with situations at 17 of the schools ranked by Sports Illustrated, we cannot judge their accuarcy on those essays in last week's issue of the magazine.

But if their grade mark on getting facts and ideas right on those 17 was as bad as it was on the treatises covering Oklahoma, Nebraska and Kansas, the SI people ought to devote more time to something they are familiar with — like chess.

Even as bad as Iowa State may be this year, they still are in the Big Eight, but you'd never know it from reading this paragraph in SI: "Except for Oklahoma State and Kansas State—and both of them are improving—the rest of the Big Eight is almost dead-even."

Of course, it's possible the magazine hasn't overlooked the Cyclones and have put them in the dead-even class with the likes of Oklahoma and Nebraska.

Gets Worse Instead Of Better

But the farther you read the worse it gets, particularly in the section on Nebraska, leading one to believe that the SI man who spent a week in Lincoln last spring must have spent more time at the 1140 Club than at the NU campus.

"As a tactician, he honors the writ of conservatism that has served so long as both the muse and the muscle of Cornhusker teams," the magazine says of NU coach Bob Devaney.

They must still think Bill Jennings is here. If Devaney's tactics, like going for it on fourth down at your own 29, are conservative, then where does Woody Hayes fit?

Speaking of Frank Patrick, they write, "Last season he completed 116 of 233 for an impressive 1,449-yard total, much of it despite the fact he was throwing in what Devaney calls 'desperation situations,' meaning third down with more than four yards to go."

When you throw the ball 233 times, a lot of those have to be made on other than third down.

Dick Davis is called a strong punter. Our statistics show only Joe Armstrong and Dana Stephenson doing any punting for the Huskers last season.

The magazine also figures "three of the four starters are back (from the defensive secondary), namely, cornerbacks Jim Hawkins and Al Larson and safety Dana Stephenson. The newcomer is Randy Reeves, a junior who played some last season, too."

The NU brochure lists Bob Best as a returning starter in the defensive secondary. Oh, well, what can you expect from a magazine that thinks canoeing is a major sport?

Our opening week guesses:

The Big Eight

NEBRASKA 17, Wyoming 7 . . . Husker fans are urged not to accept any drinking challenges from Wyoming fans tonight lest they chance missing this one. Cowboys fans were first group in history of old Jung Hotel in New Orleans to drink the place dry.

BUFFALO 27, Iowa State 20 . . . Cyclone fans may have to drink a lot if they are to get through this season.

The Top Ten

TENNESSEE 20, Georgia 7 . . . The Georgians are mad about having to play on Tennessee's Synthetic grass, but the Vols could win this one even playing on concrete.

The Rest

DAYTON over Kent State . . . XAVIER over Miami, Ohio . . . TOLEDO over Richmond . . . FURMAN over Mississippi College . . . Houston over Tulane . . . TEXAS EL PASO over Santa Barbara . . . COLORADO STATE over New Mexico . . . IDAHO over Montana State . . . UTAH STATE over New Mexico State.

VAULT, 200 MARKS BEATEN

. . . Seagren Soars 17-9; Carlos Churns :19.7 In Trials

South Lake Tahoe, Calif. (AP) — Bob Seagren set a world pole vault record Thursday at 17 feet 9 inches and John Carlos bettered the 200-meter dash record at 19.7 seconds but his mark may not be accepted because of the shoes he wore.

Seagren's vault, made on his first attempt, broke by 1¼ inches the world mark held by a University of Southern California teammate, Paul Wilson, who did not compete in these U.S. track and field Olympic trials because of an injury.

There was argument about how high Seagren had gone. The bar had been set at 5.41 meters, which corresponds to 17-9.

However, international rules require that when converted from feet to meters, the height must be scaled down one-quarter inch. Carlos, who predicted Wednesday that he would break the world record and almost predicted the time as well, professed unconcern about the controversy, saying, "My feeling is I ran the race and everybody saw me. If they don't want to recognize the record, that's their business."

Seagren had spent three days in a hospital near here less than two weeks ago with a painful back injury that doctors diagnosed as a congenital vertebrae condition.

"Something popped in my back," the lean, sandy-haired business student said. "I couldn't move. It really hurt."

All the vaulters agreed to start competing at 16 feet. Seagren passed until 16-6. He missed his first attempt, made the second then missed again in his first attempt at 17-0.

After that, there was no stopping him until the bar was raised almost to the height of the nearby pine trees. He cleared 17-4 and 17-9 on his first tries and came agonizingly close on his second attempt at 18-1.

The record, decided after more than an hour of discussion, will be submitted as 17-9 and left up to the International Amateur Athletic Federation to decide.

The problem surrounding Carlos' record was more serious. He wore new type shoes while dashing — to his victory and breaking Tommie Smith's 200-meter mark around a curve by three-tenths of a second. Smith was second to Carlos in 19.9 and Larry Questad was third in 20.0.

Carlos' shoes, especially made for the new rubberized Tartan track, has 68 small rubber brushes on the sole and heel, and international rules require that only eight spikes may be on each shoe.

'The' record will be submitted with the notation that the shoe worn has 68 brushes" said Hilmer Lodge, chairman of the U.S. Olympic track and field committee.

When pressed for his opinion as to whether he thought the record would be allowed, Lodge said, "I imagine it would not be."

The three leaders in each event qualify for the squad. In other final events Thursday, Mark Muorro, a 19-year old junior college student from Mesa, Ariz., won the javelin with 263-9, and George Young, a 31-year-old schoolteacher from Casa Grande, Ariz., won the steeplechase in 8:57.9.

Frank Covelli and Gary Stenlund were the other qualifiers in the javelin and Bill Reilly and Conrad Nightengale finished second and third in the steeplechase, earning trips to Mexico.

In preliminary activity during the day, Willie Davenport came within one-tenth of a second of the world record in the 110-meter high hurdles, running 13.3, and Ed Burke led qualifiers in the hammer throw at 221-9. Emmett Taylor turned in the fastest 400-meter heat time of the day, finishing in 45.3 and Lee Evans won his heat in 46.1.

Art Walker, American record holder in the triple jump, led the qualifiers in that event with a leap of 53-10, more than a foot under his best.

Charlie Craig, third ranked triple jumper in America, reinjured his heel and failed to qualify for the final.

Results, Page 16

Cornhuskers' Starting Lineups List 17 Veterans, Just Five Non-Lettermen

By HAL BROWN
Star Sports Editor

Only five non-lettermen are included in Nebraska's starting lineup announced Thursday for the Huskers' Saturday opener against Wyoming.

Tight end Jim McFarland and center Joe Buda on offense and left tackle Bob Ligstroth and right end Sherwin Jarmon on defense are the non-letter winners, who will start for the seventh edition of Husker football produced by head coach Bob Devaney.

Nary a sophomore can be found on the starting lineups of either the offensive or defensive platoon.

Of the non-lettering starters McFarland, Buda and Jarmon had to beat out lettermen to earn starting roles. McFarland edged Paul Topliff; Buda moved in ahead of Carl Ashman and Jarmon took over for Frank Avolio.

TOM LINSTROTH

The decision on six of the starters was not made until Thursday and Devaney indicated the choice was a tough one in all six instances.

Those gaining starting nods Thursday were McFarland, Ed Hansen at offensive right tackle, Buda, Joe Orduna at left halfback, Mick Ziegler at flanker and Dana Stephenson at left safety on defense.

"The others at those positions were very close in ability," Devaney said, "And they'll see plenty of action Saturday. The ones who are starting looked just a little better this fall, but the competition was very close."

This means the Husker starting lineups will have eight seniors with six of them coming on the offensive platoon.

BOB LIGGETT

Seniors are Mel Brichacek left guard, Joe Armstrong at right guard, Hansen, Tom Penney at split end, Ziegler at flanker and Dick Davis at fullback on offense. On defense, it's Tom Linstroth at right tackle and Jim Hawkins at right cornerback as the only seniors.

The Husker squad wound up preparations, except for a brief limbering up session today, for the Wyoming contest with an hour and 30 minute session Thursday. The next contact they have will be with the Cowboys.

"I hope they realize that the next people they get to hit is Wyoming," Devaney explained, "Because Wyoming's going to hit them. I hope our players realize this is a good team they're facing."

Lincoln High Hosts Hastings In Opener

By VIRGIL PARKER
Prep Sports Writer

Lincoln High, the only Capital City eleven to be among the state's top ten rated teams last fall, kicks off the local 1968 prep school football season when it hosts the Hastings Tigers at Seacrest Field Friday night.

The busy first week schedule will see two other games at Seacrest on Saturday. East High meets Lillis High of Kansas City Saturday morning at 10:30, while Northeast and Fremont tangle that evening. Both night games are set for 7:30 p.m.

The other two Lincoln teams travel to meet opening game opponents. The only newcomer to the Lincoln coaching ranks, Frank Solich at Southeast, takes the Knights to North Platte, while 20-year veteran Vince Aldrich has his Pius X Thunderbolts at Beatrice.

Andy Loehr's Links, ranked eighth after a 7-1-1 finish, are expected to make a strong defense of their city title despite the absence of five all-city players from last year's aggregation.

Linemen Marv Jacques, Glen Hergenrader and Lonnie Tapp, plus backs Charlie Moore and Mel Tarpley were all chosen to the city dream team, but have graduated.

Gary Worster at quarterback, along with Gary King and Mike Shea at the halfback spots will pace the Links' attack against Terry Renner's Hastings club which was 2-7 during last year's campaign. Lincoln High was an easy 41-0 winner in 1967.

Lee Zentic's East High gridders, winless in eight starts in their initial season last fall, meet an unknown quantity in Lillis High.

The Spartans, expecting improvement after operating with a sophomore-dominated team, have 17 lettermen returning, headed by quarterback Bruce Northrop, who threw 73 completions for 655 yards last fall.

Northeast, hoping to rebound from a 2-7 record during coach Claire Boroff's first season, takes on a team tabbed as the pre-season favorite to grab top honors in the state in Fremont.

The Rockets will feature hard-running fullback Maury Damkroger, who made all-city as a sophomore last fall. The big junior is the only returnee from the otherwise all-senior, all-star eleven.

Fremont, ranked sixth in the state last season, squeezed out a close 14-6 decision when they opened against one another in 1967.

Pius X and Beatrice haven't met before and the Orangemen will be operating under new coach Bob Starr, moving to the Class A ranks from Seward.

The 'Bolts, after losing their first six last fall, captured the final three to wind up 3-6.

Solich, with but three returning lettermen, the smallest number of any Class A school in the state, takes his untested gridders into a game against a North Platte team that the Knights edged, 13-12 in their 1967 opener.

MUSTANG CASUALTY . . . Glen Hepburn.

Omaha Gridder Glen Hepburn Dies

Omaha (AP) —"That's the way Glen would have wanted it."

Those were the words of Mrs. Glen Hepburn Thursday as she mourned the death of her husband — the Omaha Mustangs' linebacker who died earlier Thursday at a Detroit hospital.

The saddened Mustangs went ahead with preparations for Saturday night's Continental Football League contest in Omaha with Orange County, Calif.

Hepburn died of injuries suffered in a game with Detroit last Saturday night.

His widow insisted the Saturday night game go on as scheduled.

The game will precede funeral services Monday morning at Boys Town, where the 31-year-old Hepburn learned his football as a high school boy.

He had come to Boys Town from a motherless home in Miami, Fla. Following graduation from Father Flanagan's boys home, he attended the University of Nebraska, Eldorado, Kan., Junior College and Omaha University.

Hepburn, known for his ferocity on the football field and his patience off the field, was a charter member of the Mustangs and helped organize the team five years ago.

Doctors in Detroit said that Hepburn never regained consciousness and his condition became progressively worse. They said he suffered a brief heart stoppage and a ruptured blood vessel in the brain.

Besides his widow, he leaves a daughter, 3, and a son, 15 months.

His wife, Carol Ann, had attended the Detroit game and had never left the hospital until after his death.

Mustangs' head coach Bernie Berigan said: "Glen lived for football. It was his life. It is sad that the sport he loved so well should take his life. He was one of the most versatile and ferocious football players on the field and one of the finest gentlemen off the field that I have ever had the privilege of knowing."

Berigan said Hepburn's jersey No. 81 will be retired.

Although he was caught up in a he-man's game, Hepburn never lost touch with the kids.

He worked as a security guard at Boys Town and was with the boys much of the time. During the school year he was employed as a physical education instructor at three Omaha Catholic schools. One of the most popular programs were his long hikes — up to 25 miles.

Hepburn's body will be returned from Detroit Friday. It will lie in state at the Thomas Funeral Home from noon Saturday until late Sunday when it will be taken to the Boys Town Chapel. The citizens of Boys Town will recite the rosary at 7 p.m. Sunday and the public at 8 p.m. Funeral services will be at 10 a.m. Monday. Burial will be in Miami.

Meanwhile, organization of the Glen Hepburn Fund has been announced with contributions being taken at the Douglas County Bank in Omaha.

NU Freshman Football Roster Boasts Quality And Quantity

If quantity is significant, Nebraska freshman football coach Cletus Fischer should have another unbeaten club this fall.

About 70 candidates have reported and Fischer expects several more candidates who haven't taken physicals yet. yet.

Quality isn't lacking either. "This looks like a pretty fair crop," says Fischer.

One notable absentee this fall will be Plattsmouth all-stater Max Linder, who quarterbacked the South team in the Shrine Bowl game.

Linder has learned that surgery will be needed to correct a back ailment which has troubled him and will have surgery this fall and enroll in the spring semester.

Fischer admits he isn't lacking for quarterbacks, however, as seven are bidding for signal calling jobs.

Fischer and Monte Kiffin will work all candidates on both offense and defense for two weeks before assigning players to offensive or defensive units.

New 12-Man Super Board Heads Golfers

. . . WILL SET PROS' POLICIES

Washington (AP) —The Professional Golfers Association accepted a peace proposal from tournament sponsors Thursday to set up a new 12-man super board to govern the rich pro golf tour.

The PGA insisted, however, on keeping control over the actual operations of the tour. But the new board would set policy, select tournament sites and approve purses.

There was no immediate reply from the pro players who bolted last month to set up their own tourney association.

"Sponsors control the purse strings, but I wouldn't hazard a guess as to what the players will do," said Max Elbin, president of the PGA.

The PGA, the sponsors and the players would each have three members on the new board. The first nine would choose an additional three members from the ranks of retired golf greats, such as Ben Hogan and Byron Nelson.

Implicit in the PGA's acceptance of the sponsros' plan was a surrender of the veto the 52-year-old PGA has carried in the past over decisions of the tourney committee that previously ran the tour.

The multimillion dollar pro golf tour has been torn in recent weeks by a rebellion by many players seeking greater control over the sites, scheduling and tour policies. Many of the top names in golf bolted last month to form the American Professional Golfers with plans to conduct their own tour next year.

The 16-member PGA Executive Committee accepted the outline of the new board at a five-hour meeting here.

In a formal statement the PGA said it "agreed that the new tournament board have full and final authority over all matters within its jurisdiction. However, it specified that all administrative and operating procedures of the tour would be under the control of the PGA and exercised through its headquarters and field staff."

Elbin said this meant the new board could set tour policy, but could not hire and fire the PGA tour officials. He said the PGA would retain day-to-day control of the tour.

The proposal for the 12-man board, with the players and the PGA each holding only one quarter of the membership, was advanced by the head of the sponsors' group, Gerald H. Rideout, in a letter to both Elbin and Gardner Dickinson Jr., representing the players.

The PGA wired its acceptance, with the one major condition, at the end of the meeting to Rideout. Elbin said the next move would be up to Rideout and the players.

The PGA, dominated by club pros, emphasized that it was not giving any recognition to the new American Professional Golfers group.

Under the PGA acceptance, the three players to serve on the new super board would be elected by a vote of all pros participating in the tour. None of the rebel players has actually left the PGA so far, however, and thus all of them would be eligible to vote.

Howard Belts Pair As Nats Slap Orioles

Washington (AP)—Frank Howard hammered two mighty home runs to hand 20-game winner Dave McNally his first defeat since the All-Star break as Washington rapped Baltimore 4-1 Thursday night.

The blasts, both over 450 feet, were Howard's 41st and 42nd of the year and drove in three Senator runs.

The defeat snapped a 12-game winning string for McNally dating back to the first week of July and reduced the magic number for first-place Detroit to seven, the combination of Tiger victories and Oriole losses needed to clinch the American League pennant.

Jayhawk Linebacker Hurt; OU's Zabel Punting Again

. . . BUFF DEFENSIVE TACKLE OUT

Kansas

Lawrence, Kan. — The Kansas Jayhawks had their first potentially damaging injury of the new football season Thursday when Dick Fortier, No. 2 right linebacker, hurt a knee.

There were indications that a cartilage was torn in the knee. Such an injury would put Fortier out of action a long time. That leaves only Emery Hicks at the linebacker spot.

Coach Pepper Rodgers praised the work of Junior Riggins, who is battling Donnie Shanklin and Don Autry for the tailback spot.

Rodgers said his lineup was pretty well set except at four positions —tailback, fullback, safety and defensive tackle.

Missouri

Columbia, Mo. —Missouri's football squad got a lift Thursday with the appearance of linebacker Jerry Boyd and offensive guard Mike Carroll, both starters last season.

Boyd reported on opening day with a pulled hamstring muscle and Carroll was hospitalized the day after his arrival with an infected foot. Both players worked only part time in Thursday's drill.

Colorado

Boulder, Colo. — Colorado football coach Eddie Crowder ran his Buffalos through a long passing drill and then worked out briefly against offensive and defensive setups used by Oregon.

The Buff defense, which has been having troubles, showed fairly well, Crowder said. It forced three fumbles and in general improving for a third straight day, he said.

On the negative side, No. 1 defensive tackle Frank Conrad, a junior, suffered a dislocated shoulder and will be out indefinitely.

Oklahoma State

Stillwater, Okla. —Coach Phil Cutchin praised his Oklahoma State Cowboys after Thursday's workout.

"This was the year," said Cutchin. "We knew our stuff better and played more like a unit. But it's time we started doing this."

Oklahoma

Norman, Okla. — Oklahoma's Sooners had what Coach Chuck Fairbanks termed "a pretty good, spirited practice" Thursday.

Fairbanks said reserve linebacker Garry Swanson's knee may not heal in time for the Notre Dame game. Junior Danny Noles was promoted to take Swanson's place.

Steve Zabel, recovering from a broken bone in his foot, practiced punting Wednesday for the first time since the injury. Fairbanks said Zabel "didn't look too bad." The coach said he thought Zabel will do the Oklahoma punting, but he wasn't sure yet.

Kansas State

Manhattan, Kan. Coach Vince Gibson has his Kansas State football squad working out in shoulder pads and shorts Thursday.

Iowa State

Ames, Iowa — Seniors George Dimitri of Chicago, Benny King of Central Islip, N.Y., and John Warder of Hoffman Estates , Ill., were named tri-captains Thursday for Iowa State's opening football game.

Kemper Lead To Goldstrand

Sutton, Mass. (AP) — Joel Goldstrand, a former Houston star with little luck in three years on the pro golf tour, wielded a hot putter and charged into a one stroke lead with a sizzling five under-par 67 Thursday in the opening round of the $150,000 Kemper Open.

Goldstrand, who admits he must do better or look for another line of work, conquered the 7,320-yard Pleasant Valley Country Club layout in masterful fashion, needing just 29 putts in nines of 34 and 33.

Despite his finest effort of the season, the 29-year-old Goldstrand had little breathing room as veteran J. C. Goosie of Clearwater, Fla., was right behind after posting 36-32—68 on the wind-swept, rain-soaked par 37-35—72 course

Arnold Palmer, battling his way out of a slump, led a parade of players just two strokes off the pace as scores were surprisingly low for the start of the 72-hole test.

Palmer complained only about his iron shots although he took 33 putts in a 35-34—69, his lowest first round in a tournament since the Memphis Open in June.

Major Leaguers May Plan Strike

Washington (AP) — Major League baseball players will go on strike by refusing to sign 1969 contracts if they don't win better fringe benefits, a players' spokesman said Thursday.

"I think the players are prepared to go all the way," said Richard Moss of the Major League Baseball Players Association.

There would be no picket lines, but the strike would take the form of mass holdouts for the first time in organized baseball, Moss said at a Federal Bar Association panel talk on collective bargaining in professional sports.

Broncs Cut No. 1 Pick, Have Three Spots Left

Denver, Colo. (AP) — The Denver Broncos, continuing last-minute maneuvers before Sunday's American Football League opener at Cincinnati placed their No. 1 draft choice Curley Culp, and defensive tackle Paul Smith on waivers Thursday.

That left a total of three vacancies on the Bronco roster. Coach Lou Saban will have until two hours before game time to decide who to activate.

Live below your means.

If you'd like to get around the high cost of living, we have a suggestion: Cut down on the high cost of getting around.

And buy a Volkswagen. It's only $1854 That's around $1200 less than the average amount paid for a new car today. (Leave it in the bank. More's coming.)

A VW saves you hundreds of dollars on upkeep over the years.

It takes pints, not quarts, of oil.

Not one iota of antifreeze.

And it gets about 27 miles to the gallon. The average car (thirsty devil that it is) only gets 14.

So the more you drive, the more you save.

And chances are, you'll drive it for years and years. (Since no matter how you change the style, a VW never goes out of style.)

Of course, a VW's not for everyone. So a lot of people buy a big flashy car just to save face.

Try putting that in the bank.

Nebraska Co-Captain Won Battle Vs. Death

. . . HAWKINS' DESIRE TREMENDOUS

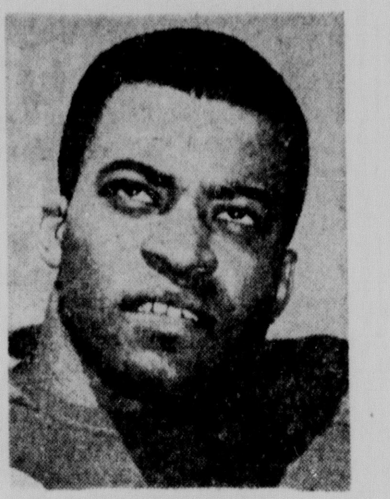
When the referee flips the coin Saturday afternoon at Memorial Stadium, the Nebraska Cornhuskers will be represented by defensive halfback Jim Hawkins and offensive end Tom Penney.

No doubt it will be a thrill for both young men, but chances are Hawkins will give a special prayer of thanks as he strides out to meet with the officials and the Wyoming captain.

After all, two years ago Jim Hawkins didn't have a chance to play football again, let alone be elected captain.

Actually, Hawkins came very close to death one night in the spring of 1965, but medical vigilance at the University of Nebraska Student Health Center came in the nick of time.

Jim suffered a cracked sternum in the spring game and further diagnosis confirmed the possibility of a bruised heart. He was promptly treated, and he did not become a football fatality. But everyone said he'd never play football again — a fact Jim refused to accept.



JIM HAWKINS

The Jefferson City, Mo., native sat out the 1965 season but started running again that fall. In the spring of 1966, he had shaken off all effects of the injury and was allowed to participate in spring drills. He won a starting job and things looked great. But during the summer, he had a slight recurrence of his old injury and doctors benched him for good.

Then Jim really started to fight. He worked out constantly and when he couldn't persuade doctors he was 100% fit, he paid his own way back East where a battery of specialists ran him through rugged tests and pronounced him completely healed and in no danger from playing football.

Armed with that evidence, he stormed back to Nebraska where more checks finally convinced the medics he was fit for football.

In the spring of 1967 he gained his starting spot again and last fall as a junior Jim Hawkins became a Big Eight star.

This fall, he's a top candidate for all-Big Eight and all-America honors. Says Husker coach Bob Devaney, "There's not a more courageous, nor better defensive back in the country than Jim Hawkins."

Let's not forget Tom Penney, either. He earned his honor by playing two outstanding seasons for the Huskers.

And in 1968 Tom Penney is a solid contender for all-Big Eight honors.

Kearney Cage Pairings Listed

Kearney — Pairings for the Kearney State Holiday Basketball Tournament were announced Thursday by Kearney State cage coach Wayne Samuelson.

The tourney, to be held in Cushing Coliseum on Dec. 27-28, will offer both a high school division and a college division.

Opening the two-day session will be Holdrege High and Norfolk High in a 2 p.m. tilt. In the college division, University of Missouri at St. Louis and Sioux Falls College open play at 3:30. In the evening games, Kearney High and McCook High play at 7 p.m. Host Kearney State plays Southwestern Kansas in the 8:30 tilt.

Ferd Hernandez Takes Decision

Las Vegas, Nev. (AP)— Sixth-ranked middleweight boxer Ferd Hernandez of Las Vegas won a unanimous 10-round decision Wednesday over Tony Valenti of Boston.

Hernandez, 163, formerly of Sidney, Neb., using a left jab and crisp combination, dominated the action and kept Valenti, 160, off balance. There were no knockdowns.

Valenti took the action to Hernandez in the opening round but Hernandez took over after that.

Yanks Playing Like Old Bombers, Show 25 Victories In 36 Games

New York (AP)— If the New York Yankees continue their current hot streak, manager Ralph Houk may decide to patent his rose-colored glasses.

The eternal optimist, Houk had insisted all along that the Yanks would "get squared away and make trouble for a lot of teams." He's finally having the last laugh, thanks to a surge that began Aug. 12 and has seen the Yankees win 25 of their last 36 games — one a 19-inning tie — and climb from seventh place to fifth, only a game and a half out of third.

It's a far cry, of course, from the dynasty days of 1921-64 when the Yankees were winning 29 pennants and 20 world championships. But it's most welcome after three seasons of second-division finishes — sixth, 10th and ninth.

"Basically, everybody's been doing his job," Houk said. "The bullpen has been strong. Bobby Cox has done well at third base. And I just can't say enough about Tom Tresh since he switched from the outfield to shortstop. Everything seems to be going right."

More Sports On Page 18

Pitching has been the name of the Yankee game — the team batting average of .215 is the lowest in the majors — and the once-maligned bullpen has been the biggest name of all. During the hot spell, the relievers, who blew 16 games through Aug. 11, have won six, saved six and failed only twice while posting an 0.78 earned run average in 69 2-3 innings.

National League cast-off Lindy McDaniel has been sensational since coming from San Francisco in mid-July, with a 3-1 record, eight saves and a 1.65 ERA, 0.74 during the streak.

Southpaw Steve Hamilton, who specialized in pitching to left-handed hitters, suddenly began getting right-handers out as well and shows an ERA of 0.54 during the past month.

The starters have been almost as good and the team ERA has shrunk to 1.90 over the 36-game stretch. Fritz Peterson has won five in a row and allowed only two earned runs in his last 44 innings. Stan Bahnsen has a 1.92 ERA and 5-2 mark for the period while Mel Stottlemyre is 4-2 and 2.40. Al Downing, over his arm miseries, is 2-1 and 2.19 and Joe Verbanic, the spot starter, is 2-1 and 1.36.

Almost each day has produced a new hero while the Big Guy, Mickey Mantle, has his troubles.

"Sure I'm going to play the regulars the rest of the way," Houk said. "These guys have earned this shot and I'm not going to be the one who stops them. I owe it to the players who suffered through all the criticism."

Ryun Fails 800 Qualifying, 1500 Chance Set Saturday

. . . NO EXPLANATION FOR FAILURE

South Lake Tahoe, Calif. (AP) — Jim Ryun suffered a major disappointment when he finished out of the running and failed to qualify in the 8000 meters in the U.S. Olympic Trials Wednesday.

Ryun's last chance, and really his main race, the 1,500 meters, begins with a preliminary heat Saturday with the finals Monday.

JIM RYUN

Ryun ran in the third lane, wide of the pack, for most of the race Wednesday. Coming out of the final curve Ryun seemed to slacken his pace when he saw he was badly positioned for his kick drive to the tape. The race was won by Army Pfc. Tom Farrell in 1:46.5.

Wade Bell, Orgon runner who finished second, said:

"I had a terrible time getting around Ryun because he seemed to slack off in the final turn. I had been wide in the third lane for at least 200 meters. I hate to say it, and it's probably the first time it's ever happened, but it looked like Jim ran a stupid race."

Ryun, obviously discouraged, picked up his shoes and left the track immediately after the race. He did not talk with any of the other runners, nor coach Bob Timmons for about 10 minutes.

"I just think that maybe Jim ran a bad race," Timmons said. "There's nothing physically wrong with him and the only thing he has to do now is to prepare himself mentally for the 1,500.

"It's lucky this happened here in the trials and not at Mexico City," Timmons said.

Jim Beattly, one-time American mile record holder, saw it as an easing of pressure on Ryun and an advantage for the games.

"Everyone else who was planning to double here is not giving up the idea and now it''s going to be so much better for Jim," Beatty said.

In the 800, Ryun and Bell both trailed for a lap but began moving up early in the last turn around the track. The runners disappeared behind the trees in the track infield and there wasn't a fan who thought Ryun wouldn't be leading by the time they came back into sight on the final straight-away.

But as they did, Ryun slowed and Farrell raced to the front, fending off a late challenge from Bell. The University of Kansas superstar was in almost a walk as he came disgustedly home.

"It's one of the happiest races of my life," said Farrell. "It's fabulous to be going to Mexico, I can't believe it. I expected Ryun to come up. I was only hoping for third."

Don't miss it. News of friends on vacation, marriages, engagements, parties, P.T.A. notes and club meetings makes good reading in the family section of "Sunday Journal and Star."

Olympic Trip Not Likely For Brumel

Moscow (AP)—Valery Brumel, the world's greatest high jumper, is undergoing new medical treatment for his fractured right knee and probably will not attend the Mexico City Olympics, even as a spectator.

Brumel, the Tokyo Olympic high jump champion and world record-holder, fractured two bones in his knee in October, 1965, when his motorcycle skidded on a wet highway, flipped over and landed on him.

Three years of tortuous medical treatment has produced a painful, but only partly successful, recovery.

"I don't know, it would be a miracle," he said Wednesday when asked if he ever hopes to regain his old form.

Brumel set the world record in July, 1963, when he cleared 7 feet, 5¾ inches at a meet in Moscow.

Valery Skvortsov, who has cleared 7-1⅞, will be the Soviet hope in the jump at the Oct. 12-27 games in Mexico.

He was among the 100 athletes who left late Thursday by air for Mexico City. Russia will send a team of 401 athletes to the coming games.

Kansas State End Quits Club

Manhattan, Kan. (AP) — Manuel Barrera, 6-2, 225-pound starting defensive end, has left the Kansas State football team.

Coach Vince Gibson said an effort would be made to get Barrera, reported to have gone to a small college in Texas, to return.

Barrera, from Alice, Tex., and a transfer from Henderson County Junior College in Texas, was voted the most valuable defensive player in K-State's intrasquad game last spring.

Randy Ross of Garland, Tex., a 6-3, 215-pound defensive lineman, also has left school.

Attorneys Told Of Concern Over Insanity Defense

By GERRY SWITZER
Star Staff Writer

"We can't let offenders of the law go because of improperly trained police officers or because of the insanity defense," Nebraska County Attorneys were told Thursday.

Preston A. Trimble, district attorney from Norman, Okla., said that release of criminal defendants who are insane is a new idea, and should be of great concern to prosecutors.

He cited cases in connection with the insanity defense and provided the county attorneys with a list of areas to cover on cross-examination of a psychiatrist.

Warning

In reference to cross-examination, Daniel V· O'Brien of St. Louis, Mo., a former prosecutor and presently a criminal defense attorney, warned prosecutors to make sure their case is covered in the first half of closing arguments.

He said if the prosecution waits to make key points until the closing portion of the argument after the defense has completed its closing argument, the prosecution may run out of time in retaliating the defence to include his major argument.

Harvey Perlman, executive director of the Governor's Commission on Law Enforcement and Criminal Justice, explained to the prosecutors the newly-passed Federal Omnibus Crime Control and Safe Streets Act of 1968.

He said the act provides two types of funds — planning money which is to be used solely for the purpose of planning improvements in criminal justice and action money which is to be sued for the implementaton of these improvements.

Nebraska's share should be about $200,000, he said, of which 40% must be made available to local subdivision of government for planning purposes.

"Local government and local law enforcement agencies, I think, should concentrate on studying particularly local problems and planning for their solution," he said.

Time Is Short

"Let me emphasize that time is short. The act establishes rigid deadlines for planning which are going to be difficult to meet . . . and the commission must make its applicaton for planning funds before December 19," Perlman said.

He said the states now have a large responsibility in that the challenge of crime in a free society has been delegated on the local level.

"If we do not accept the challenge and respond adequately to it, the prospects are not pleasant.

"If solutions are not found on the local level, the people will look elsewhere," he added.

Marsh Says McCarthy's Name Won't Go On Ballot

Secretary of State Frank Marsh said late Thursday that Sen. Eugene McCarthy's name will not appear on Nebraska's ballot as a presidential nominee in November.

But the question of whether the "New Party" can put on the ballot its nominee for the First District congressional seat, Harry Hamilton, is still up in the legal air.

Petitioners last week submitted some 1,500 signatures seeking to put McCarthy's name on the ballot and the peace-seeking "New Party" placed his name in nomination Tuesday night at its convention.

But acting on the attorney general's advice, Marsh said neither method could legally be used to get McCarthy's name (along with running mate Sen. Ralph Yarborough of Texas) on the ballot.

There are many reasons, he said, but among them are: There is no method for nominating a presidential candidate by petition; the "New Party" has no provisions for presidential electors; and prsidential candidates must be nominated at a national convention.

The 'Ne'w Party" is certified only in the First District.

The question on the congressional candidate will be determined probably Friday morning.

Hamilton and several of his New Party cohorts appeared at Marsh's office late Thursday, trying to find out what the process is for getting Hamilton's name on the ballot.

Marsh, sticking with his policy of not offering legal advice, told them to come in Friday morning with a Lancaster County treasurer's certificate and then the decision will be made.

Hamilton must pay the county treasurer a filing fee of $300.

"I suggest we go home and read the statutes some more," Hamilton said.

'Boston Arm' Moves Elbow Just By Thinking

Boston (AP) — Two men who lost arms in work mishaps demonstrated Thursday a new artificial arm with an elbow that they can move just by thinking about it.

Minute electrical signals given off by elbow-movement muscles in the upper part of the arm that they retain tell a small electric motor in the elbow to move the artifical forearm up and down.

The motor is powered by batteries and picks up its guidance signals from electrodes attached to the skin to detect the electricity generated in upper arm muscles when a person wants to move his forearm.

In contrast to artificial arms that an amputee may use by training other muscles to operate cables, "the Boston Arm requires no deliberate training of other muscles — it uses the same ones a man normally would," said Prof. Robert W. Mann of Massachusetts General Hospital and Liberty Mutual Insurance Co., who demonstrated it at a news conference.

The Chesapeake Bay derives its name from an Indian word meaning "Great Shellfish Bay."

Soviets Reported Closing Missile Gap

© New York Times Service

London — An authoritative private study Thursday reported that the Soviet Union had speeded its construction of land-based intercontinental ballistic missiles, and now has almost as many as the United States.

The Institute for Strategic Studies, a nonprofit group specializing in military research, said the Soviet Union now had almost twice as many ICBMs as last year, and by the end of 1968 was expected to have reached the American total of 1,054.

Moreover, the institute found evidence of growing diversification in the Soviet military forces, with new emphasis given to preparation for both nuclear and conventional conflict, suggesting "possible Soviet adoption of a policy of 'flexible response' similar to that adopted by the North Atlantic Treaty Organization."

The report also said China's nuclear weapons program had been slowed by the political struggle there, and that the Arab countries had rearmed significantly since their defeat by the Israelis in the six-day war last June. But officials said the Arabs were perhaps a year away from again reaching a "state of readiness."

Although the report was written before the Soviet-led invasion of Czechoslovakia, institute officials said the Soviets' intensified training of airborne forces, for example, was reflected in the smooth and expert use of such troops in Czechoslovakia.

Alastair Buchan, the institute's director, told a news conference that he did not think the "balance-of power" in Europe had changed by the Soviets' massive movement of troops into Czechoslovakia.

Agnew Takes Back Charge Hubert 'Soft'

© New York Times Service

Rochester, N.Y. — Gov. Spiro T. Agnew of Maryland took back Thursday his charge that Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey was "soft on communism."

The Republican vice presidential candidate said he had erred in using the words that had become a familiar term during the days of Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy and what Agnew called the "witch hunts" of the early 1950s.

He said he would never have applied "soft on communism" to Humphrey, the Democratic presidential candidate, had he known the "political history" of the phrase.

"If I'd known I'd be cast as the Joe McCarthy of 1968, I'd have turned five somersaults to avoid saying it," Agnew said with a rueful grin.

Agnew called the Democratic standard bearer a "loyal American" and a "man of great integrity."

Agnew said his retration had not been dictated by Richard M. Nixon, the Republican presidential candidate.

His decision to retract came after Sen. Everett M. Dirksen and Rep. Gerald R. Ford of Indiana, the Republican congressional leaders, had expressed disaproval of the Agnew remarks.

Both said they were unaware of any evidence that Humphrey as soft on communism.

Justice Blocks Transfer Of Reservists To War

Washington (UPI) — Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas left his wilderness retreat Thursday and got to a telephone in time to block the transfer to Vietnam of 113 U.S. Army Reservists.

The reservists, members of the 102nd Supply and Services Co. of Cleveland, Ohio, claim they were activated illegally in the absence of a declaration of war or other national emergency.

They were scheduled to be shipped to the war zone Friday.

Several days ago, Chief Justice Earl Warren and Justice Hugo L. Black turned down the reservists' petition for a stay to give them time to appeal an earlier ruling. On Aug. 26 the 4th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals rejected their challenge of a 1966 law which allows the president to activate any reserve unit for two years.

The Defense Department said Douglas' ruling would not affect any other reservists on their way to Vietnam or already there.

Douglas said in his order that he was reluctant to grant the stay after Warren and Black had denied it, but he could not discuss the matter with them because the legal papers reached him at Goose Prairie, Wash., his vacation retreat, 'whe're there is no telephonic connection."

'Substantial' Questions

The justice, a leading conservationist and wilderness enthusiast, somehow got to a telphone and called the Supreme Court to issue his order.

"The questions presented seemed to me to be substantial ones," the order said, "and if I read the papers before me correctly, the case as it affects each of the 113 applicants may become moot tomorrow when they are scheduled to be shipped out to Vietnam."

The 113 reservists contend that under earlier laws their contracts with the government contemplated calls to active duty only in the event of a declared war and a declared national emergency.

But Judge Frank A. Kaufman of the U.S. District Court in Baltimore held that the 1966 statue under which they were called to active duty was enacted in furtherance of these earlier laws, which were incorporated into their contracts. This decision was upheld by the appeals court.

EVERYBODY'S MONEY:

Efforts Of LBJ, Congress Fail To Reverse Inflation

By Merryle S. Rukeyser

Thus far the Johnson administration's and the 90th Congress' joint effort to reverse the inflation has not been catching hold. Despite the federal income tax surtax and the mandatory cut in total governmental expenditures, capital programs by industry to improve productive facilities, consumer buying, automobile sales, and homebuilding have actually been rising. And the inflation pace, after the corrective measures were instituted, similarly increased this summer.

While political remedies have been ineffective thus far, the chief moderating influence on the national economy has been a reduction of steel buying after it became known that there would be no strike.

In forecasting the pattern for the remainder of the year, it is well to keep in mind the factor of time lag. Policy reversals habitually take a period of months before becoming effective. Some think that the current optimism resembles that of the man who toppled out of the fortieth story of a Manhattan skscraper. As he passed the 35th floor, he remarked: "I'm all right so far." However, the analogy is far from perfect. The deflationary effect of higher taxes and mandatory spending cut have potentially been vastly more than offset by the rise in July in personal income at an annual rate of more than $60 billion over a year ago.

Affluence Record

When this economic pattern is related to violence in the streets, it becomes alarming to visualize how hot heads might behave in an interlude of economic setback. Those without a sense of history are perhaps of the impression that the continuation of the national economy on an extremely high plateau for 90 months without a break constitutes mere normal expectancy. On the contrary, this has been a record breaking spell of affluence.

With an election in the offing, it would be misreading the signposts to assume that all of the excesses and blunders of the past 7½ years had caused this stable prosperity. In economics, when two forces of opposite direction meet, the stronger one prevails. Good times are not the product of loafing, leaning on the relief roll, or restricting output. On the contrary, any letdown in human efficiency has been more than offset by the contrary pull of the brilliant innovations of the process engineers. Science and invention — the fruits of the creative elite — have been the harbingers of good times.

Yet discontent has been afoot. Possibly the TV cameras blow up the dissidents beyond their true significance on the total scene. The payoff will be in the voting booths when individuals express their true sentiments.

MERRYLE RUKEYSER

Measures Ineffective

Discontent has been increased by political demagoguery, which resulted in over-ballyhooing governmental relief measures as a war against poverty. This whipped up the hysterical hope that the disadvantaged would be in seventh heaven in a matter of months. But when after time had elapsed, slum dwellers found themselves still living amidst rats, there was a letdown.

There has developed disillusionment with the cult of welfare, which has sapped groups of motivation to participate in the mainstream of national productivity.

Similarly, free access to the central cities has piled up more problems than it has solved. The trek to the cities starting with the industrial boom of World War I was accelerated later by the technological revolution in the South.

Instead of meeting locally the new challenge of retraining released manpower from the mechanized farms, the disengaged migrated to places where they sought greener pastures. They change their habitat, bringing little or no capital, insufficient education and job training for a changing world, and lack of purpose.

Instead of keeping many idle, one approach would be to give new dignity and appeal to jobs in domestic service. There should be more social acclaim for kind and considerate persons who are gifted to become mothers' helpers, household cooks and cleaners.

The time to achieve social peace is during this boom when most people are comfortable and tempers are cool.

(Mr. Rukeyser will be pleased to receive inquirires from readers concerning their financial problems. Letters with stamped self addressed envelopes should be sent in care of The Lincoln Star. Questions of general interest will be answered in the column. Others, to the extent time permits, will be handled by mail.)

Wheat Prices Advance In Active Trade

Chicago (AP) — Wheat futures advanced nearly 2½ cents a bushel on the Chicago Board of Trade Thursday.

Trade was active and involved all facets on both sides.

The advance of wheat prices, the best one-day move in nearly three months, influenced buying in other grain and soybeans futures.

A good demand for futures brought on short covering as prices advanced. But some of the buying also was attributed to reports that the spring wheat crop harvest is troubled because of wet fields in the Plains States and Northwest. An increase in wheat impoundings under government loan is anticipated, and prices also reacted to this trade feeling.

An improvement in the cash corn basis at Chicago tended to influence some futures buying, but short covering also was noted. Oats and rye prices generally reacted with fluctuations in corn and wheat.

Soybeans also reacted to reports that an increase in impoundings mught be expected because of lower prices.

At the close, wheat was 1¾ to 2¼ cents a bushel higher, September 1.19; corn was unchanged to ⅜ higher, September 1 04⅞; oats were ¼ to ½ higher, September 61 cents; rye was unchanged to 1¼ higher, September 1.15¼; and soybeans were ⅛ to ⅝ higher, September 2.59¼.

Lincoln Boys Choir Accepts Decision To Replace Director Hugh Rangeler

By SANDY STEVENSON
Star Staff Writer

After a lengthy discussion, members of the Lincoln Boys Choir and their parents voted Thursday night to extend their gratitude to Hugh Rangeler for his 15 years as director and to support the school board and administration in the hiring of Randall G. McEwen to replace him.

Rangeler, who retired in May as coordinator of secondary vocal music in the Lincoln Public Schools, had planned to continue directing the Lincoln Boys Choir.

The choir began under his direction 15 years ago as a project of the schools to help boys develop a greater interest in vocal music. The Saturday morning rehearsals became part of his job with no increase in salary.

Rejected Offer

Rangeler indicated Thursday evening to parents and members of the choir that he had to turn down an offer of $250 a month from the school board this summer because it would have meant an end to necessary social security payments.

Superintendent John Prasch offered this salary for the period of one year required after retirement age.

McEwen was hired this summer as a consultant of secondary vocal music and to teach music at East High School.

According to Don Ferguson, who represented the Lincoln Public Schools, McEwen was to have worked with Rangeler during the 1968-69 school year and then take over as director the following year.

McEwen Appointed

When Rangeler declined the school board's offer, Ferguson continued, the only alternative was to appoint McEwen director of the choir.

One rehearsal has already been held with McEwen.

Ferguson, who is in charge of publications and information for the school administration, said the school board is anxious to continue the boys choir.

Some of the parents of the choir members had hoped to get sponsorship from a civic organization in order to keep Rangeler as the director.

Rangeler left the meeting early saying he would accept any decision made concerning his future with the choir. He received a standing ovation.

Industrial Bond Amendment Is OKd By Senate

Washington (AP) — An industrial development bond amendment, sponsored by Sen. Carl T. Curtis, R-Neb., has been added to a three-year extension of the Defense Contract Renegotiation Act passed by the Senate.

Also tied to the bill was a rider to suspend a key trade agreement negotiated by the Johnson administration.

The Curtis amendment, adopted on a 37-34 vote, will make it possible for states and other local government units to sell much greater quantities of tax-free industrial development bonds.

It would allow issuance of such bonds, used to build plants to attract industries to the community involved, up to a $5 million maximum.

Under the law now, the ceiling is $1 million. This was fixed in the income tax increase bill passed by Congress in June.

Italian Cabinet Approves Reform For Universities

Rome (AP) — Spurred by student unrest that affected nearly all of Italy's 44 universities, the government Thursday night approved a program of reforms to submit to Parliament.

Under the program, the universities will have limited self-government, students will be judged on over-all performance during the year instead of by final exams alone, and professors will be banned from holding government or parliamentary jobs. The 1st is to eliminate the problem of absentee professors.

"This is not the great reform that has been mentioned for many years, but it faces up to the most urgent problems," the Christian Democratic cabinet said.

Biafra Accuses U.S. Of Helping To Starve Natives

Umuahia, Biafra (AP) — Biafra accused the United States Thursday of "collaborating fully with imperialist Britain and the reactionary Soviet Union to destroy Biafra and her 14 million people."

A statement issued by Dr. Ifegwu Eke, Biafran information minister, asserted: "The inhuman administration of President Johnson has armed our enemy, financed his acquisition of lethal weapons used in the slaughter of innocent civilians, provided him with strong diplomatic backing in a most wicked manner, and assisted the Gowon (Nigerian) regime to starve thousands of Biafrans to death."

Czech People Said 'Friendly' To Soviet Troops

Moscow (UPI) — The Soviet press Thursday reported "dear and friendly gestures" from Czechoslovaks to Russian soldiers.

The newspaper Pravda's reporter in Bratislava said Slovaks left baskets of food for Soviet troops near their billets in the first days after the invasion.

"How dear were those friendly gestures in the first hours and days after all this fuss and malicious lying about the alleged occupation," Pravda said.

Nebraska Grand Court To Hold Communication

The sixth annual communication of the Nebraska Grand Court, Amaranth Degree, will be held Sunday, beginning at 8 a.m., at the Elms Restaurant, in Emerald.

Presiding at the communication will be Mrs. Lenora Letcher, royal grand matron, and John Robinson of Omaha, royal grand patron.

Rusk Denies U.S. Made Soviet Deal

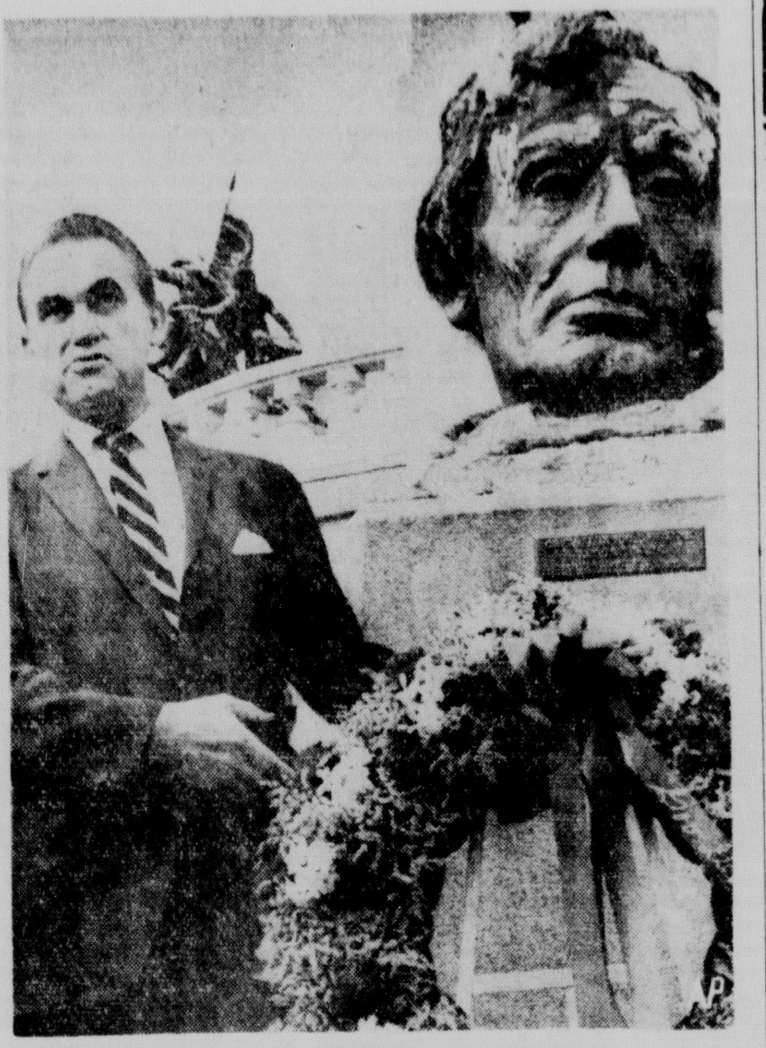
New Haven, Conn. (AP)—Secretary of State Dean Rusk denied Thursday night that the United States has made a deal giving the Soviets a blank check to move against Czechoslovakia.

"These are absurd accusations without a shred of truth," Rusk said. "The United States has not entered into any 'sphere of influence' agreements or understandings with anyone anywhere in the world."

RFK Successor Sworn Into Job

Washington (UPI) — Charles E. Goodell was sworn in as the junior senator from New York, succeeding Robert F. Kennedy Thursday. "I wish I were not here," he said.

"I am entering this job with great humility because no one can hope to replace the unique talents of another man particularly one such as Robert Kennedy," the new senator said.



WREATH FOR LINCOLN

Former Alabama Gov. George Wallace, the third party candidate for president, places a wreath on a memorial for Abraham Lincoln Thursday in Springfield, Ill. He said the first thing he would do as president would be to repeal the federal open housing law.

Physicians' Knowledge Of Drugs Questioned

Washington (AP) — A federal task force raised basic questions Thursday about the ability of the American doctor to prescribe the appropriate drugs for his patients.

The task force quoted a "distinguished pharmacologist" as saying "lack of knowledge and sophistication in the proper use of drugs is perhaps the greatest deficiency of the greatest deficiency of the average physician today."

A major limitation on the doctor, the task force said, is that most of his information on drugs comes in promotional material from drug manufacturers.

Lack Of Time

Other limitatons, the task force said exist, include doctors' lack of time to make judgments; rapid changes in the drug field; inadequate medical training, and belief that the average doctor can prescribe drugs wisely without the help of expert colleagues.

"We find few practicing physicians seem inclined to voice any question of their competency in this field," the task force said.

But it added "we have noted . . . that the ability of an individual physician to make sound judgments under these confusing conditions is now a matter of serious concern to leading clinicians, scientists and medical educators."

'Right Drug'

As defined by the task force appropriate prescribing by the doctor means "the right drug for the right patient, at the right time, in the right amounts and with due consideration of relative costs."

The task force noted that most medical schools teach only one course in drugs and their use.

One short trip to Mobil can get you one long trip to almost anywhere.

$2500 would do it, right? And that's what you can win playing our new game, Mobil Clean Sweep. Three different ways.

By getting a stamp marked "Instant Winner, $2500."

By completing a game-booklet page marked $2500.

By winning the $2500 Sweepstakes. (It could happen. Somebody in the United States wins every single day of the Sweepstakes, just by sending in the blank that's attached to every Mobil Clean Sweep stamp. Because there's a new Sweepstakes drawing for every single day.)

You could also win $1000, $100, $25, $5, or $1. Instantly, or by completing a page. And you don't have to buy anything.

So first take a short trip. To Mobil. You could end up taking a long trip. On Mobil.

To anyone who bought a second car in the last month:

Pity.

With a price—$1995—that makes it the lowest-priced car with an automatic transmission.
When it comes to buying an old-style second car, there's a new adage: he who hesitates is saved.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE

Here's How To Work It

One letter simply stands for another in this example, A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Here is a practical little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add three. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures gives you.
